Bib, Hoe And Limment Week

Jim Burgess was out in the early morning sunshine yesterday applying a hoe to the lush growth of weeds in the path on the south side of his service station. Which makes him, unintentionally, citizen No. 1 to respond to the wistful expression of the planning commission for a cleaner town. Jim wasn't at the meeting Wednesday so must have been following some spring cleaning urge inherited from his tidy Scotch ancestors, without benefit of planning commission encouragement.

The commission shook its head over the frayed around the edges look of the town. Probably due to early summer langour on the part of the inhabitants, weeds are growing vigorously in every available cranny. Lush from the late rains, until a few days ago they looked rather pleasant. But they are now beginning to turn brown, and will soon cease to be aesthetically pleasing. They will also become a fire hazard, so the planning commission is going to speak to Fire Marshal Bob Leidig. The people who remove their weeds right away can congratulate themselves complacently on being good, tidy, co-operative, public spirited citizens. Whereas, the ones who put off the chore will find themselves in the black book of the fire marshal and will be compelled to remove their weeds anyway. Now or later, it's the same job.

The planning commission also viewed with regret certain "plantings" that were made in set-backs in commercial buildings that, through lack of water and care, are fast becoming bare ground and receptacles for candy papers and worn out chewing gum.

"When they let their plantings go to seed and weed that way, we begin to wonder if it wasn't a mistake to encourage them to build with a set back for planting," one member said.

It might be a good idea for the mayor to declare a city-wide weeding and planting week, opening with a wheelbarrow parade led by the planning commission in bib overalls. We have a ravelled out straw hat we'll donate to the cause. —Wilma Cook.

SUBCOMMITTEE MEETING

Peter Ferrante, co-ordinator for the fact-finding subcommittees to the local redistricting committee on school administration questions, announced this week that considerable progress was made at the closed meeting Wednesday night in Carmel. All representatives were present with the exception of those from Jamesburg, he said. Four committees are now complete: Bay, Palo Colorado, Carmelo, and Pacific Grove districts. Expected to be selected by end of next week are Pfeiffer, Tularcitos, Marina, Carmel, and Monterey committees. Groups are organized for the purpose of studying the greater centralization of school districts on the Peninsula.

Third Annual Musical Art Club's Student Recital Proves Outstanding

BY EBEN WHITTLESEY

Following a policy established three years ago, the Musical Art Club last Monday evening, presented a selected group of students from all parts of the Peninsula chosen for outstanding musical talent. The program, arranged by Miss Angie Machado, who thus concludes two highly successful years as program chairman of the club, was well balanced and varied in content. An audience which series of well played notes and the production of music. His original composition, Mountain Fire, was very pleasing, slightly suggestive of Debussy, but showing a real musical idea.

Patsy Canoles provided a touch of color for the program with her very competent dancing. She has lovely costumes, handles herself well on the stage, and really makes her castanets sound like a musical instrument instead of a purposeless rattle. Under the able guidance of her mother, June Delight, she has developed into a dancer very pleasant to watch.

Another young artist was Joy Wilkinson, soprano, whose selections included the Schubert Ave Maria, Italian Street Song by Herbert, and Les Filles de Cadiz. She has a lovely voice, and the maturity of her dramatic interpretations tends to make one forget that she is still too young to have a well-developed voice. I hope she will be able to continue music study, which has been interrupted, as this would soon correct her faults of phrasing and breath control.

The Carmel High School String Quartet, composed of Basil Allaire, Charis Johns, Hilary Karnson and Joan Harrington performed the andante from Quartet No. 3 by J. C. F. Bach, and the presto from the Haydn quartet No. 2. While the Bach selection appeared a little over their heads, the performance was, on the whole, smooth and well co-ordinated. In any case, the playing of such seri-

Mayor Godwin Opens Children's Crusade At Mass Meeting

Mayor Frederick Godwin sounded the starting trumpet in the Crusade for Children—American Overseas Aid—United Nations Appeal for Children—at a mass meeting on Monday night at Sunset Auditorium with a brief but forceful appeal to the mothers and fathers in the community to take cognizance of the great advantages and privileges of living here—where neither they nor their children are ever in want—and the responsibility thereby vested in them of helping to provide for the helpless and homeless and hungry little ones of war-torn Europe and Asia.

The mayor then turned the meeting over to Col. Larkin Glazebrook, chairman of the Carmel committee for fund-raising in this great cause. Col. Glazebrook announced that a motion picture titled Seeds of Destiny would be shown presently which would explain the need far better than any words of his, and called upon Walter Warfield, former president of all service clubs, and now president of Kiwanis, (who had seen the picture) to make a few preliminary remarks of explanation and warning about the film. The film, Mr. Warfield said, had not been made in Hollywood on a make-believe set, but in Europe and Asia on real streets—or what was left of them. It was not the product of anyone's imagination but actual pictures of real situations in real life—if that kind of existence can be called living. And it was not pretty or romantic, but stark and grim and shocking.

Many children had accompanied their parents to the meeting and everyone stayed and watched and listened, absorbed and impressed and in silence. As one mother said, "I talked it over with Joe (her 12

Get Ready For New PO Urges Bixler

The post office is bulging at the seams. Ten regular clerks, five substitute clerks, one postmaster, one assistant postmaster and a half million dollars worth of stamps, all jammed together in quarters built seven years ago to accommodate a post office doing half the business the present Carmel post office handles! Postmaster Ernest Bixler mops his brow and says, "Well, anyway, our lease expires next March 1."

"Are you going to move?" The Pine Cone wanted to know.

"Of course we'll move, if we can find larger quarters. Anybody who wants to put up a building for us needs just to come around. We'll talk business."

This is an announcement to raise goose pimples on the cringing flesh of every business property owner north of Ocean Avenue. In a community where everybody has to go to the post office to get his mail, where the post office goes, there hike up business property values. But Bixler is not concerned with incipient panics among the people who have stores and shops to lease on the golden path to the post office. He refuses to be shushed.

"How will people know we're in the market for a building if I don't talk about it?" he wants to know, and enlarges on the serious need for more space. As bad as things are now, unless larger quarters are found or built, they will get worse, Bixler points out. There has been a steady increase of postal receipts, which is the pulse of the volume of business done by the post office, and Bixler expects the increase to continue. "Right now we are filling applications for post office boxes made last December," he says. "There is a waiting list of 300 for boxes. By next March the situation will be even more acute. We're going to have to have more space or we shall have to resort to door to door delivery."

Commission Asks Amended Code For Woman's Club

Rigidity of the Carmel building code and inflexibility of the powers of the planning commission were protested by citizens and commissioners alike at the regular meeting of the body Wednesday afternoon. Set off by an application for a non-conforming setback on additions to a 35-year-old landmark, discussions led to the recommendation of one amendment to the building regulations and to the consideration of others.

The Carmel Woman's Club was granted permission to proceed with construction of the new club house, although total coverage of the building exceeds present regulations. Expressing unanimous approval of the proposed structure, the commission prepared an amendment to the code, to be submitted to the City Council for action, allowing a 50 per cent coverage for constructions erected by religious, charitable, and educational institutions.

Forest Theatre Sets And Dances In Expert Hands

The past week has seen much activity at the Forest Theatre where rehearsals were held day and night for the Shakespeare Festival plays, A Midsummer Night's Dream and Romeo and Juliet. The scenes in which the young fry participate as fairies were rehearsed in the afternoons, whereas the grownups rehearsed every evening.

A Midsummer Night's Dream is the first play to be given and will open July 2, and continue through July 3 and 4.

The set for this production will be planned and supervised by Betty Fogel, executive secretary of the Red Cross. Miss Fogel came to Carmel a month ago and has entered into the Carmel spirit almost at once. She studied stagecraft at Columbia and Bucknell Universities and gained practical experience at the Eaglemere Playhouse in Pennsylvania. Thomas C. Green, who will have charge of the Romeo and Juliet set, will assist Miss Fogel. Working with them will be N. Duxbury, who will aid them in the construction of the sets.

John S. Chitwood is busy drawing plans for the lighting effect to be used in both plays. He knows the Forest Theatre requirements because he did the lighting there last year for both Distant Drums and the Gilbert and Sullivan operas.

Ruth Allerhand, who maintains a studio in Monterey, where she teaches modern and creative dancing, is supervising the dances, which will be performed by the fairies in A Midsummer Night's Dream. She will also create dance patterns for Puck, who will be played by Pat Merivale, which will interpret his character in motion.

Miss Allerhand came to the Peninsula in 1947 and instructed a class at the Sunset School under the Summer Recreation Program and has also done work for the Adult Education program in Carmel. She also worked with the Peninsula Playcrafters in Pacific Grove, instructing them in pantomime and improvisations of word and motion. Her technique is particularly desirable in stage work as it enlarges and projects the portrayal for the actor.

The entire cast for A Midsummer Night's Dream will be announced next week by co-directors Herbert Heron and Blanche Tolmie.

John Tanous

John Tanous, 32, a resident of Carmel for ten years, was killed Sunday when an airplane in which he was a passenger collided with a power line near Pasco, Washington. Employed as a linesman at the Hanford atomic plant near Pasco, he was involved in the accident while surveying flooded areas with a friend. He was a member of the Carmel Post of the American Legion.

He leaves his mother, Anna Tanous of Carmel; eight brothers: Tom, San Francisco; Abraham, San Jose; George, Lansing, Michigan; James, Hettinger, North Dakota; Robert, Pacific Grove; Walter, Harry, and Mike of Carmel; and three sisters, Mrs. Sadie Adadown, Lansing, Michigan; Mrs. Willard Witchell, Vancouver, Washington; and Mrs. William Woolsey of Carmel.

Rosary was at the T. A. Dorney Funeral Home Wednesday night. Funeral services were held Thursday morning, with requiem mass at the Carmel Mission. Interment was in the Monterey Catholic cemetery.

ORGANIZATION MEETING

A meeting of the United World Federalists will be held tonight, June 18, at the Sunset School in Room 11. The newly elected chairman, Eugene Watson, will conduct the meeting which is being held for the purpose of planning working committees to organize the Peninsula for world government.

ous works as these by a high school group is an achievement.

Kenneth Copsey, oboist with the Monterey County Symphony, performed three selections with ease, fluency, and sure pitch, on an instrument which is not easy to play well.

Robert Jensen, tenor, a pupil of Gaston Usigli, closed the program with several vocal selections, including the Flower Song from Carmen, At the Ball by Tschalkowsky, and Water Ripple and Flow, a Czech folksong. He has a warm tone, a restrained delivery, and very good diction. His true musical feeling is apparent in everything he does, and while he has something to learn of voice production, his pianissimo passages are well controlled, and he has overcome a certain stridency that has been noticeable in the past.

The sympathetic support and expert playing of Angie Machado, Camille Olgeta and Ralph Forbes, the three accompanists, had much to do with the good work of the young soloists.

Emil P. Thiele

Emil P. Thiele of Carmel died at a local hospital Monday at the age of 73. Born in Germany, Mr. Thiele came to the United States in 1923, where he worked as a cabinetmaker, a trade he learned in his native country. He has lived in Carmel since his retirement in 1945.

He leaves his wife, Frieda Thiele; a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Meyers; two sons, Paul F. Thiele

TALK ON MILTON

Eric Petrie, the English schoolmaster who taught in occupied Germany for several years before coming to Carmel to retire, will address Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte's current literature group next Tuesday evening, June 22, at 7:30, in Room 11 of Sunset School, on the subject, John Milton and his Shorter Poems. The Carmel Adult School cordially invites everyone to attend.

There wasn't any clapping when the picture was over—any more than you would clap in church after hearing an inspiring sermon—but not a person stirred or made ready to leave until they had listened to what Colonel Glazebrook had to say about how they could help. The Boy Scouts had passed out pamphlets and volunteer sign-up slips and members of the audience who had not already volunteered were asked to fill out the slips and hand them in at a table in the lobby. All volunteers were asked to call at campaign headquarters in All Saints' Parish House on Monte Verde street between Ocean and Seventh (telephone 948-W) for assignment to territory and materials with which to work, any time after 9 a. m., Tuesday.

The Crusade for Children is now well under way, and citizens can do their part in any one of several ways:

1. Giving their contributions to the volunteer worker who calls at their door.
2. Buying Calory Coupons from the volunteer workers who will be seated at tables in the Bank of Carmel, Monterey County Bank, and Post Office.
3. Mailing a check to Crusade for Children, care Bank of Carmel, Carmel.
4. Placing their contribution in envelopes that will be provided at the various churches this Sunday.

More About The Mart—

By Malcolm D. Whitman, Jr.

The strongest expression I've heard about my piece proposing that Carmel have a merchandise mart and escalators was that the piece was the worst collection of muddled expressions I've yet set my name to.

I'll not apologize or try to clarify the projection, but if the expression will be allowed, I'll try to show where some of the thoughts jostled together came from.

Before the war, a group of U. S. Army technicians tested in Maryland a small automobile of English design which had had its insides turned left for right by American engineers. After the tests they discarded this backside to English design and came up with a military vehicle propelled by a four cylinder-head engine driving all four wheels via a pretty complex gear transmission and the front wheel through a Bendix Weiss constant velocity universal joint. Not many of the several "hot rod" addicts in Carmel have even yet much idea or expression on how well or poorly the front wheel drive joint I've mentioned works, but that work somebody saw to it that it does Carmel people came to know after purchasing Jeeps. I saw a very pretty lady so affected by a Jeep purchase that she went to a formal dress party in one of these autos. An expression from her host as she arrived might have been "How do you like swanking around on those joints?" Had the host pulled an uncalled for expression like that on her, he'd have shortly after had to run for cover. But still she had arrived in that new kind of vehicle, and the incident was a fact of Carmel, universal joints and all, for that day.

Expressions by other Carmel ladies no doubt took care of the proprieties of this matter. I haven't seen tails and top hat of formal dress in a Jeep since, but have noticed that Jeep owners have been buying hoists, Jeep dozers, power offtakes and other apologies for male behavior other than driving a Jeep under the largest power hammer in California and pressing the control button oneself. Junk dealers like the man who bought the Normandy know that this is done to ex-vehicles. But is is a kind of fun no one in Carmel has yet enjoyed, instead of selling off Jeeps to outlying folk, in whose hands the vehicles are changing the shape and customs of the country.

A new curb was poured recently around a new building on the corner of Dolores and Sixth street. And that the cement had been brought in, along with 12,000 pounds of steel per truck, in two trucks, which may or may not yet have been paid for. Terrifically complicated trucks, those, to my thinking, but each blazoned with a simple joyful seeming expression "Here comes Cookie." I knew, too, that Cookie's method of pouring cement is expressed as "Redi-mix" practice. This practice of pouring went on, and pretty soon there was a curb there with warning that a new curb was there expressed in temporary bomb shaped lights made of steel. Always more steel, no matter what you or I, or anyone else may happen to be doing with their time in Carmel.

This seemed to me news of the community, and I tried to set it down. The SatEvePost article had said that folks in Utah pinned

P. D.

Carmel's first armed robbery in more than two years took place shortly after midnight Sunday, and local officers were on the way to Salinas as The Pine Cone went to press Thursday to pick up John Sampson, Jr., of San Francisco, arrested Wednesday by San Francisco police as a suspect.

In a masked holdup at a residence at Lincoln and Sixth, five Filipinos, two of them armed, escaped with $550 in cash and $340 in checks, according to Pedro Legaspi, local restaurant employee, who called police shortly after the robbery. The masked men escaped in a car without lights, and the victims were too distracted to note the license number, Legaspi said. The large sum was involved in a game of pique. Sampson was apprehended through statements of participants in the card game. The other four men were believed to be Filipinos.

A car belonging to Mary Jane Eddy of Menlo Park was rifled early last Friday morning when parked for 20 minutes at the foot of Ocean Avenue at the beach. The window was broken, Miss Eddy told police, and stolen articles included a camera, a purse, a pen and pencil set, a silvery rosary, and keys.

Another case of theft at the same location was reported Saturday evening when Leon Joseph of San Lorenzo told police his car had been entered about 6:30. Stolen were a lady's purse containing $90 in traveler's checks, a smaller purse with $46 in cash, a lapel watch, a bag of groceries, and a bottle of wine.

A race with Carmel police through downtown Carmel Saturday night earned Lewis C. Grisom of Salinas a $100 fine Monday before Judge Ross of the Carmel police court, for drunken driving. Followed by a police car when his actions appeared erratic at Ocean and San Carlos, he led a game of follow-the-leader that ended in a stall at Fifth and Dolores, and a berth for the night at the Monterey jail.

their hopes of steel production on California decisions about use of steel. That only U. S. Steel had been able to lay on the line an investment in the Utah plant of $8.00 on the nose of every living resident of California. At that point in my thought, I got up and went for a glass of water—to the refrigerator—which showed me where U. S. Steel had got the $8.00 it bet on me. It obviously expected me to want either a new refrigerator or a merchandise mart with escalators. Anyway I broke out in print feeling maybe the folks in Utah would like to know in what form I would like my U. S. Steel.

Now I have no more idea what a "merchandise mart" is than the lady in evening clothes who "jeeped" to the party has idea what a constant velocity universal joint is. I've seen pictures of a "merchandise mart" in Chicago, a building someone decided to shape with flat, rule-controlled, lines on top, so that the building wouldn't suggest that buyers from Carmel who like or dislike to go there were just hiving like bees. People say, and I also read, that there is a pentagon shaped building in Washington, D. C. In talk about that one, the stories all sound as if people have been a-hiving like bees, and didn't like a feeling they've been dreading all their lives. The thought moves me to suggest that no architect in Carmel ever be authorized to design a "merchandise mart" in pentagon form, or in any form suggestive that Carmel is to make of any lady a virtual queen bee, therein to hold court.

Recreation Program Activities

By GEORGE MOSOLF

Carmel small fry will have two chances to attend the popular Hildebrand Puppet Show during each week of the Summer Rec Program. This entertaining feature was so well received last year that an additional day was a must for this summer. Thursday's show will be different from Monday's presentation so that sprouts from 4 to 10 years of age can attend both performances. The Puppet Show is held in the Sunset Library and the feature goes on from 10 to 11 a. m., Monday and Thursday.

TEEN AGE DANCE AT SUNSET LIBRARY WEDNESDAY

Under the expert guidance of Dorothy Skelley, Carmel Teen Agers will be given an opportunity to get together and enjoy an evening of dancing and fun on Wednesday nights from 9 to 11:30 p. m. All teen age boys and girls are welcome to attend these fun frolics and they can come date or stag.

FOLK DANCING THURSDAY AT SUNSET CAFETERIA

Mrs. Hitchings' fun-filled folk dancing class will be changed from Monday to Thursday night for the rest of the summer. This event provides a lot of fun for high school, college, and adult participants who like exercise with their dancing. It isn't necessary to enroll for this Thursday night dance event, just drop in at the Sunset cafeteria and join the fun. Remember these dances are for men and women from high school age and up. Time: 8-10 p. m.

FREE TENNIS LESSONS ON TUESDAY AND THURSDAY

Each Tuesday and Thursday, Dick Hawk will be on hand at the high school tennis courts from 1 to 3 p. m. to conduct a tennis clinic where youngsters can learn the game or improve their strokes. Dick is well-grounded in the art of teaching tennis and guarantees to elevate all participants above the novice class. Matches will be arranged for those wishing competitive tennis and a tournament will be held at the conclusion of the summer program.

SONG AND STORY HOUR FRIDAY MORNING

Friday morning from 10 to 11:30 a. m., little shavers from 4 to 10 years of age will enjoy the Song and Story hour conducted by Evelyn Nidever Hildebrand. This activity is held in the Sunset Library and provides an opportunity for youngsters to participate in the song and story festival. Mothers or fathers are invited to come with their offspring and join in the fun.

MISS FAUL TO SUPERVISE SMALL CHILDREN AT SUNSET

A full program of games and play activities has been arranged for each afternoon at the Sunset playground and game room. Miss Faul, a student from the University of Nevada, will be in charge of the smaller youngsters who participate in these activities. In addition to all the games usually found at a playground, Miss Faul will conduct an arts and crafts class from 2 to 3 p. m. each Monday, Tuesday, and Friday.

Male Chorus Should Give More Concerts To Keep In Trim

By John Burr

Everyone in Carmel did not get lured to the beach last Sunday afternoon, despite its enchantment. Several hundred intrepid souls, at least, braved the cavernous depths of Sunset School Auditorium to hear the Peninsula Male Chorus in their only performance of the year.

The listeners were rewarded for their loyalty with some spirited singing by a group of men who demonstrated conclusively that it takes more than adversity to destroy the collective vocal urge. One concert a year for any group of individuals, amateur or professional, is hardly the diet to instill confidence, poise, and know-how. Can't this fault be remedied in the future?

Since I have had first-hand experience with the acoustic peculiarities of this particular auditorium I can only offer my condolences and promise the choristers a better fate in heaven.

John W. Farr is a director who has a sound feeling for choral effect. With adequate drilling he should be able to mold this group into a finely balanced ensemble. Miss Margaret Aitkenhead, chorus accompanist, did a praiseworthy job under difficulties. Why not place the piano stage center so all the chorus can hear the pitch and the interludes?

For contrast in effect and sustained interest, I believe I enjoyed the virility of the Border Ballad, by Cowen, and the lyrical simplicity of Passing By, by Purcell, more than anything else on the program. If these two interpretations are indicative of the group's future course, I see much promise of good things ahead.

Mention must be made of soloists Carl Bensberg and Wallace Doolittle, who sang with creditable distinction. Mr. Doolittle especially has a voice of rich resonance and should be heard under more favorable circumstances.

The concert was augmented by the violinist Gregory Kreshover, who was obviously laboring under some difficulty unknown to the reviewer. I am willing to believe that Mr. Kreshover can at the drop of a fiddle show an audience how a violin should be played. His accompanist, Angie Machado, displayed remarkable aplomb in view of the difficulties. I want to hear her again when the going isn't so rough.

The complete program follows:

Chorus: Grant Us to Do With Zeal, Bach; Morning Hymn, Henschel; Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring, Bach; To God on High, De-cius.

Sonata in F Major Op. 24, Beethoven, Gregory Kreshover.

Chorus: Pilgrim's Song, Tschai-kovsky; Standin' in de Need o' Prayer, Reddick, (Solo by Carl Bensberg); Roadways, Clark; Border Ballad, Cowen.

Gregory Kreshover: Pierrot Serenade, Randegger; Andantino,

Martini-Kreisler; Spanish Dance in E Minor, Rehfeld.

Chorus: Come to the Fair, Martin; Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, Herbert, (Solo by Wallace Doolittle); Passing By, Purcell; Sing Me a Chantey, Wellesley.

James Phelan Award Winners Announced

Winner of the James D. Phelan Awards in Literature and Art for 1948 was announced today by Noel Sullivan, speaking for the trustees of the James D. Phelan Estate. In literature, Homer L. Sutton of Monrovia, California, was announced winner for the year 1948, the award of $1,000 given on the basis of several poems which were submitted in competition with 92 other contestants from all parts of the state.

Alternate appointment was awarded to Robert E. Duncan of Berkeley, and honorable mention was given to Virginia Dunbar of Claremont, William Galbraith of Azusa, Rosalie Moore of Willits, James Schevill of Berkeley, and Sanders Russell and Adele Levi of San Francisco.

A special committee of judges consisting of Robinson Jeffers, Marie Welch, and James Caldwell passed on the manuscripts submitted. This year's competition in literature was in the field of poetry.

Competition for Phelan Awards is held each year and is open to native born Californians between the ages of 20 and 40. The awards were provided for under the terms of a bequest made by the late Senator James D. Phelan to bring about a further development of native talent in California.

Information concerning the Phelan Awards may be secured at 820 Phelan Building, San Francisco 2, California.

RED + NEWS

FLOOD RELIEF

The Carmel-by-the-Sea chapter reports a gratifying response from the members of this community who wish to contribute through the Red Cross to disaster sufferers in the great northwest flood. This flood is one of the largest disasters known in the history of Red Cross in that it directly affects more people and covers a larger area than even the famous Mississippi and Ohio River floods.

So far there are 9,781 families reported as affected by the flood, of which an estimated 6,000 will need Red Cross aid. 3,589 are being taken care of in Red Cross shelters and 5,037 fed by the Red Cross in congregate groups.

Some 4,000 homes have been destroyed and an estimated 2,600 damaged. Beside the building and repair work, funds will be needed for meeting furniture and clothing needs, medical expenses, rehabilitation of small businesses, and the maintenance of families until their places of work are operating again. Carmel chapter will continue to accept voluntary contributions from persons or organizations interested in helping these unfortunate people.

AQUATIC AND FIRST AID SCHOOLS

During the summer the National Red Cross sponsors various training programs to qualify instructors for first aid, accident prevention, and water safety. The second National First Aid and Accident Prevention School is scheduled for August 15 to 25 at Asilomar, Pacific Grove. William H. Budd, of the Pacific area, will be in charge, and the staff will be composed of outstanding leaders from all organizations working in the fields of safety education.

Also from August 15 to 25 the National Aquatic School at Camp Ravencroft, Garberville, California, will be conducted for training leaders and instructors in the Safety Services. Instruction is offered also in boating canoeing, swimming pool and waterfront leadership.

Any adult or young man interested in attending these schools is asked to get in touch with the Carmel chapter, Dolores near Eighth streets, or telephone 382.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

The Carmel chapter is sending Laurel Hildebrand and Richard Taplin as delegates to the Junior Red Cross Division of the National Red Cross conference in San Francisco from June 21 to 24. Mrs. Francis Foraker, who has been the Junior Red Cross chairman, and Mrs. Louise Burns, sponsor in the high school, are also attending the convention.

With the end of the school term the Junior Red Cross of the Carmel schools have been reporting their activities during the past year. Many of the schools have made beautiful albums with pictures and articles about California, Carmel, and local school activities, which have been sent to schools in Greece, China, and Italy. Exchange volumes have been received here, as well as letters of appreciation from school children in many countries. The exchange of these volumes and of art work from the high schools is to create a better understanding and fellowship between students in this country and abroad. 400 educational gift boxes were also sent to children in devastated areas. These boxes, containing simple articles such as pencils, pads, soap, toothbrush and paste, cost little here but are worth fabulous sums in foreign countries, and what is intended for one child is often carefully divided among as many as ten because of the great need.

The Junior Red Cross also participated in the services to Fort Ord, having collected thousands of books and magazines, painted 360 flower containers, made holiday favors and Christmas tree decorations, and 500 Christmas and Thanksgiving menu folders. The sewing classes made 25 articles for the needy. Great assistance was

MORGAN HILL LEGION NINE HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

The Morgan Hill Legion softball team, current leaders in the Gilroy City League, will provide the opposition for the Pine Cone tomorrow night in an 8:30 tilt at Sunset Field. Seeking opposition further north after handling most of the teams in this area, the Pine Cone will probably meet its sternest test when they hook up with the Legionnaires. If the locals can duplicate the performance against the Salinas PSEA squad, they will be capable of winning against the best clubs in northern California.

The return of Gordy Miyamoto will give the Pine Cone added punch and another gazelle on the bases. Softball fans are now debating the relative speeds of Gordy and Richey Walters. Richey was a hurdle champ in his high school days and has retained a lot of swift. With Miyamoto, Walters, and Bob Bell operating on the same team, opposing catchers will have to be doubly alert or lose their shoes and gloves.

RECREATION LEAGUE GETS UNDERWAY WEDNESDAY

Softball as she is supposed to be played will be presented for the edification of Carmel fans next Wednesday evening when the popular Adult Summer League tees off for 10 weeks of play. Opening salvos will be fired by the Carmel Lions, 1947 champs, and Kenny Roberts' ever-ready Volunteer Firemen. The Lions, under the master-minding of player-manager Cliff Cook, are a poised and confident aggregation which belittles the chances of the five underdog teams in the league. Boasting all their stars from last year's championship crew, the Lions are entitled to the favorite role. The Firemen, who provide the opposition for the Lions in Wednesday's opener, will field a veteran nine which is capable of knocking the props from under the high-flying Lions.

Thursday night's attraction will find Chief Fratley's finest squaring off against Jim Kelsey's American Legion crew. The Police are plenty steamed up for this season's race and threaten to pick up all the chips. With a galaxy of stars from which to choose, the Legion will definitely not be a pushover.

Wilder & Jones' eager band of plumbers provide the opposition for the runner-up Faculty in Friday's tilt. The leak-stoppers have been engaging in secret practice for the past two months and could easily prove to be the surprise package of the league, if they manage to get over the potent Faculty outfit. The Faculty may not have the best team in the league but they do have the tallest pitching staff with both hurlers towering over six feet, four inches.

BOYS' CLUB MIDGETS MAKE IT TEN STRAIGHT

Playing in big-league style, the Carmel Boys' Club Midget softball nine pounded out a 5 to 3 decision over a very fine team from Castroville last Saturday night at the Sunset diamond. The Carmel lads got off winging in the first frame when they put together a pair of walks and three solid blows to chalk up four markers. With Johnny DeAmaral pitching steady ball it appeared that the local kids were headed for a shutout, but in the fifth inning the little Don Castros came to life and racked up three runs on two free passes, a brace of hits, and an untimely error. Just for added insurance, Paul Artellan connected for a near-home run to drive in another tally for the Club in the sixth canto. Paul tried to stretch a legitimate triple into a round-tripper but he was nipped at the plate when the Castro left fielder threw a strike to the catcher. Fine defensive play by Bobby Updike, Stewart Emery, and Henry Overin served to keep the visiting hitters off the paths.

PINE CONE 5, SALINAS PSEA 0

Going the route for the second time this season, Ky Miyamoto pitched a near-perfect game to whitewash the Salinas PSEA before a capacity crowd last Saturday night. Ky had a no-hitter going into the last inning, but a scratch single through the infield gave the visiting shortstop credit for a legitimate blow. The Pine Cone connected for only three blows off the deliveries of two Salinas hurlers, but speed on the bases and use of the squeeze bunt racked up the five tallies.

Carmel softball fans welcomed the return of Gordy Miyamoto to the Pine Cone squad. Gordy, minus his appendix, appears to be in top shape and his big bat will be a welcome addition in the batting order.

Anyone with a first aid certificate would have found plenty of business at Sunset Field Saturday night. In the preliminary game between Castroville and the Boys' Club Midgets, the Castro catcher was gashed by flying spikes and needed a patch job. Two Pine Cone performers, Joe Nicholson and Jim Kelsey, heard the birdies sing when they receipted for raps on the gourd. The Salinas catcher bounced the so-called softball off Joe's noggin on an attempted steal of second and the popular catcher was hors de combat for a few minutes. Jim Kelsey, Pine Cone second sacker, collided with Gene Ricketts when the councilman made a college try for the lone Salinas hit. Both Kelsey and Nicholson finished out the game and were none the worse for the bumps.

Emma Evans Pupils Show Fine Musical Sense In Recital

At a charming little recital at her studio in Carmel on Friday night Emma Evans presented five of her young pupils whose remarkable ability at the piano reflected great credit on their teacher. These young people played with genuine feeling and musical understanding and it was a joy to listen to them. Moreover, they played as though they loved to play, as though it were just as natural to play the piano as it was to speak or walk. A teacher who can achieve such ease and grace and, above all, musical intelligence, is much to be complimented.

The first group of seven short pieces was played by Gloria Cerrito. This little girl played with quiet dignity and seriousness. She had her music well in hand and she went through her program without faltering. She played a Russian Folk Song very charmingly, and in her duets with her teacher she displayed a firm sense

A SPLIT SECOND IN ETERNITY

The Ancients Called It COSMIC CONSCIOUSNESS

Must man die to release his inner consciousness? Can we experience momentary flights of the soul—that is, become one with the universe and receive an influx of great understanding?

The shackles of the body—its earthly limitations—can be thrown off and man's mind can be attuned to the Infinite Wisdom for a flash of a second. During this brief interval intuitive knowledge, great inspiration, and a new vision of our life's mission are had. Some call this great experience a psychic phenomenon. But the ancients knew it and taught it as Cosmic Consciousness—the merging of man's mind with the Universal Intelligence.

Let This Free Book Explain

This is not a religious doctrine, but the application of simple, natural laws, which give man an insight into the great Cosmic plan. They make possible a source of great joy, strength, and a regeneration of man's personal powers. ## Peninsula To Have UNESCO Conference Of Its Own In Fall

Next fall the people of the Monterey Peninsula will have their own UNESCO Conference, a miniature duplicate of the recent conference held at San Francisco, according to four delegates, who reported San Francisco activities at the Sunset School Tuesday night. Representatives of all Peninsula organizations, and individuals will participate, with both local and out-of-town speakers. The purpose will be to further the UNESCO program of seeking peace through understanding of conditions that result in friction throughout the world.

Some of these friction causes were brought out by the participants in Tuesday night's discussion: Rev. Alfred Seccombe, Miss Marion Todd, Calvin Cope and John Blinks. These were: overpopulation, shortage and waste of natural resources, racial, religious, and economic differences, and lack of education and moral responsibilities. Possible cures discussed at San Francisco were: voluntary birth control, resource conservation and development, study of problems relating to transfer of populations to undeveloped areas, development of tolerance in racial and other differences, and exchange of educational information throughout the world. Most difficult cult problem, it was agreed, was the fact that Russia does not participate in UNESCO and in free exchange of information. But at least, the speakers agreed, we can put our own house in order, and cooperate with the rest of the world, hoping that in time the Russian barrier will be lowered.

Interesting sidelight on the San Francisco conference was that when one section passed a resolution calling upon the President to appoint a committee of scientifically minded persons to examine into the causes of friction between the United States and Russia and report to the President and the American people, Assistant Secretary of State Allen and an Army officer made strong pleas that it be rescinded, which it was, by a vote of 73 to 72. This, however, was only a minor incident in a conference that made important contribution to better understanding of world frictions that, unless checked now, lead to war.

Have You Read . . . ?

"A NOVEL OF A THOUSAND LIVES"

By EDWARD O. SISSON

(A review of Paul Eldridge: AND THOU SHALT TEACH THEM. Sheridan House. Pp. 273. $2.75.)

"For those who like this sort of book, this is the sort of book they like." So said Abraham Lincoln long ago. And so I must say now of this book, adding, however that I like it. But please remember that I begin with this very cautious comment of the shrewd Abe Lincoln, taking no responsibility for the consequences. Indeed, I will add a very specific warning, that nobody should read it who is allergic to very plain, sometimes actually Rabelaisian talk.

The book does not fit into any literary category; it is not a novel, in spite of the phrase at the top quoted from the jacket. The best I can do in a brief description is to call it the "natural history" of a huge cosmopolitan high school, in New York City in fact, with thousands of boys and girls and hundreds of teachers. The story is told by the dean of boys, Richard "Dick" Hoe, who has just been called out of the peace and quiet of his classroom to grapple with the countless host of "problems" and "problem children." I was tempted to head my piece "The Private—and Public—Life of Dick Hoe, Dean of Boys." But it actually contains a host of episodes in which one or two or three boys and girls suddenly step out of the even tenor into the center of action and then slip back, to be succeeded by others.

Here is what "Dick" himself says about it on the very first page:

"When I was in the classroom, I was only dimly aware of what transpired in the school. Who, next to the white ant, is as regimented and limited in scope as the teacher? But now, as dean of boys, I have the chance to be about, to watch, to talk to pupils, their parents, to teachers. I am an ear horn into which they pour their complaints, their anger, their secrets, their tribulations. As in fragments of a mirror scattered throughout the building, I look now here, now there, wherever images fall. Sometimes, they are photographer's plates, which I take into the dark room of my memory to develop and retouch when the occasion warrants. Often my own image mingles with the rest, and I am no longer the spectator, but the performer as well."

With this put his remark toward the end of the tale, when he has had time to size up the overall situation. "After a lapse of time the hierarchy loses contact with the realities of the school." But not Dick Hoe: he never degenerates into "hierarchy," never develops "executivitis," but persists in being human — indeed by some measures, "all-too-human." He cuts some very sharp corners, being little bound by the "letter" if only he can save the spirit.

The main content of the whole book is cases, some scores of them. Some light, some tragedy of deepest dye; some have happy endings, others flit away unsolved; none are trivial, and to every one the "dean" gives his shrewdest and kindest care. An epileptic, who just has to drop out; an attempt at suicide, which turns out happily and comically; a girl who had been ardently kissed on a dark stairway, and was sure she was going to have a baby! It was perhaps lucky that Dick, whose business it wasn't, happened to be on hand, rather than the proper official, the dean of girls, who might not have been so successful at either prevention or cure. A little negro boy, to whom Dick just happens to give a helping hand at a critical moment.

Don't miss the "case" on page 50: "What are

BOY'S BUSINESS

*I see sheer virtuosity
In a boy's sleight of hand with things:
In his own universe I see
A prodigy move smooth as wings,
And just as sure: with din, pell-mell,
Free and his own man, he is sprung
To hurdle every obstacle,
With clangor, clamor, mad ding-dong.*

*Beautiful boy, I would not press
To make him pause in his career,
Too short for all his business,
Too brief for full use of the gear
Of boyhood, stretched from dawn to dark,
Though he race while the hours run,
And make a lamp of every spark,
His epic tasks are never done.*

—ALEX R. SCHMIDT.

POSSESSED

*Your shadow lies across my heart
That swore it would forget you;
Beneath its weight, can I be blamed
If now, I must regret you?*

*Love with the light touch, since you choose
To make your stay so fleeting;
Leave no mark across the moon
To darken new-love's greeting.*

*Must I be mocked by thoughts of you
And far-off, bitter laughter;
Possessed by what has gone before,
Deaf to what comes after?*

—HELEN HYDE JENSEN

EROSION

*The soil, our precious heritage, endures
Age after age despite our selfishness.
A perilous prosperity inures
The mind to greed and makes it visionless.
But far and near upon the rounded land
The tragic marks of ignorance appear—
Runnels from here no bigger than a hand
Will widen into gullies in a year. . . .*

*A field, to live and flourish and increase,
Must live with love—its husbandman must know
Its fertile phases and its resting-time.
It is not his unless he brings it peace.
From his wise counsel comeliness should grow
And grasping and neglect be branded crime.*

—DANIEL HAWTHORNE

you charged with, son?" I asked. "Laughter, Mr. Hoe." "Just laughter?" "Laughter at Miss Reynolds." "Shall we call it—mockery?" "No, sir, only laughter." . . . Alas, that "just laughter" should be a sin!

Let Dick speak for himself again: "What a day! Twice the ambulance. . . . An FBI agent to inquire into the history of one of our graduates, now held for murder. . . . The truant officer with ten of our students, five boys and five girls. . . . Two irate parents. Eight cases of discipline. An officer of the Transportation Lines to complain of the behavior of our students. They tear seats, break electric bulbs . . . shout and scream. . . . Are we going to forever excuse our failings by pleading youthfulness? Individuals, as nations, cannot remain Peter Pans. They either grow up or turn into deformed dwarfs. What a day!"

But this is the only place where Dick loses his solid and vital faith, and then it is only for a night. We don't doubt that he was firmly on his feet the next morning.

Do not think that the teachers and the "hierarchy" escape being under the lens of this roaming observant "dean." I am not sure that Dick is quite as fair and sympathetic with his colleagues as with the youngsters; that wouldn't be very strange anyway, for he is hurt and angered by the impact of teachers' faults and distortions upon the children under their care. Yet in general his judgment is steady here, too. Among the teachers, too, all sorts of strange personalities appear and strange things happen.

One of the sheer delights of the book is its freedom from glib answers, or indeed from answers of any sort. It is an "Aesop's Fables" full of fascination and infinite variety, with no "Haec fabula docet's." Yet the answers are there between the lines, for those who have some of the perception and sensitivity of the writer. You may end up with more unanswered problems than you started with, as I certainly did, but you have a heightened understanding and a deeper sympathy which may well lead to better answers to all sorts of pedagogic issues.

Just how much "Dick Hoe," the "hero" and narrator, is Paul Eldridge, the author, is an interesting question. Mr. Eldridge's biography in Who's Who shows only very brief time spent in actual teaching, and that a good while ago. Nor does it indicate that Mr. Eldridge ever joined the "hierarchy." But as I look back over the book, I see in fancy the young Eldridge as an "ear horn," in and out of his classroom, with his sensitive and perceptive spirit catching the "images wherever images fall," and "developing them"—perhaps "retouching" too, in the "darkroom of his memory." Hence, this book. Also two uncomfortable questions: First, why must the schools lose a man who could create this picture of Dick Hoe, a type of man so bitterly needed in schools? And then, is it possible that if the writer had kept on in the work of teaching, he too might have "lost contact with the realities of the school," and even lost his own sensitivity, understanding, robust realism and shining humor—and become as dry and sterile as some of the darker figures in the book?

This book is far more than a "natural history of a huge high school," as I have called it: it takes us all in, parents, teachers, Americans, indeed all men, seeing with open eyes our vices as well as our virtues, yet without surrender or even dismay. So read it by all means; at least the first ten or twelve pages, which will tell you whether it is your "kind of book" or not. But don't say you haven't been warned.

Have you read a new book that you feel is so good that you want your friends and neighbors to share with you the pleasure or information you derived from it? Or an old book that is dear to you . . . or a group of fine books on a special subject? Write 650 words about it for this column.

The Time Has Come ..

By Kippy Stuart

I am baffled by a gopher. I am put to shame by a gopher. Not my own gopher, because I don't keep gophers in my garden. This fellow popped up in a friend's garden. The reason there are no gophers to worry me is, that I keep two delightful alley cats, and I keep them for the sole purpose of catching varmints. These cats are fed nothing save milk. They must forage for their own keep and you never saw two sleeker, healthier cats; you never saw a garden freer from varmints. So . . . I am not familiar with the ways of gophers. I have not come in contact with them. The only thing I know about gophers is that they make symmetrical mounds. This is my alibi for why a gopher made a monkey of me.

I received a frantic call from a friend. "Please come over and bring your gopher traps. My entire row of Ester Reed daisies are dying." I put on my thinking cap and grabbed my text book. Ester Reed daisies are a hardy breed; they have few enemies. And right in that text book, as plain as day, it said that gophers do not destroy daisies because of their pungent odor. Gophers do not like daisies. I pondered on soil deficiencies; on over-and-under watering. Occasionally the daisy family may run up against thrip or aphids, but seldom . . . seldom. This time of year Ester Reeds are in their prime and should be a waving mass of white and gold. I was primed with all sorts of scientific nonsense and marched myself over to expound. I expounded and came a cropper.

When I arrived, my friend hurried me to her terraced garden where, at the edge of a stone wall, about elbow high, a long row of Ester Reed daisies are supposed to flourish. They were sorry looking plants, bedraggled and moth-eaten. So, I started on soil deficiencies—exposure and even advised spraying with nicotine. My friend shouted. "I tell you it is gophers!" I shook my head and quoted my text book. Now my friend has very red hair and her temper is short. She has small respect for text books. "I tell you, it is gophers!"

When in a superior manner, I asked to be shown a gopher mound, she went to pieces. Her voice was shrill. "My gophers don't make mounds. They just come up out of little holes." We were standing close to the stone wall; not two feet from the daisies. All of a sudden the earth gave a heave and the most impudent little varmint I ever saw stuck his nose up and gazed at us defiantly. As casually as you please that gopher looked us straight in the eye, gave us the once-over, then went about his business. He slithered over to a daisy stalk, gnawed at its base, cut it free and dragged the flower back to his hole. Down popped the daisy. Another . . . and another beastie stuck up heads and twinkled at us. They saw us as plain as day; they leered at us, chattered the gopher theme song and away went daisies popping down holes. If this had not been so tragic for the gardener, it would have been a riotous spectacle. I never saw anything so funny in my life. I didn't feel so funny; I felt chastened and how. I apologized to my friend and raced down town for gopher bombs . . . and traps . . . and poison. We went to work with a vengeance; but it takes more than vengeance and traps and poison and bombs to conquer an established gopher colony. To date we have caught three varmints in traps. How many more were smothered by sulphur fumes we shall never know. All I know is, that a gopher made a fool of me. Why doesn't somebody tell me these things?

Symphony Membership Drive To Open Soon

The membership drive for the third season of the Monterey County Symphony Association was announced at a recent meeting of its board of directors. Although the campaign will not be actively launched for several weeks, renewals of memberships are now in order and checks payable to the treasurer of the association may be sent to P. O. Box 1856, Carmel. Renewal of membership in advance of the drive will be of particular value in planning a brilliant season under the batons of Conductors McCann and Anderson. Membership rates are as follows: donation of $100 or more entitles the donor to life membership; sustaining members donate $25 or more; active members, $10 up to $25; associate members, $2 up to $10.

At the same meeting the board unanimously re-elected the following officers: Mrs. Grace C. Howden, president; Eben Whittlesey, first vice-president; Mrs. Charles E. Simpson, second vice-president; B. Franklin Dixon, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Eben Whittlesey, recording secretary. Colonel Philip Schneeberger was appointed publicity chairman and will be assist-

How skilled miners make dynamite behave ... shaping P.G. and E. tunnels

Have you ever wondered how engineers can blast tunnels through granite with almost pin-point accuracy? Here briefly, is how it's being done in two new P. G. and E. tunnels on the Feather River which soon will help turn out 270,000 new electrical horsepower. With a drilling platform, called a Jumbo, miners drill a special pattern of holes, 12 ft. deep, into which charges of dynamite are packed. Drilling usually takes 4 hours, preparing charges another ½ hour... then they're ready to blast.

Here's a diagram of a typical pattern. Experienced engineers can predict almost exactly what will happen. All the dynamite does not explode at once. Actually, there are 10 separate explosions in a fraction of a second.

The first blast removes the core... the others shape the sides, top and bottom. It's exciting work, going full speed ahead as P. G. and E. rushes America's biggest power-building program... to meet California's needs.

For the record

This "mucking" machine removes broken granite at a rate of 60 tons an hour.

Blowers suck blast smoke from the tunnel. Miners usually can be back at work in 30 minutes.

These tunnels are part of a huge P.G. and E. construction program which will add nearly 2 million horsepower!

Work never stops on our power-building program

Colorful Wedding

One of the most colorful weddings to take place at the Church of the Wayfarer occurred Saturday afternoon when Jean McDonald, wearing an heirloom veil, became the bride of Baile Betterton Van Fleet of Oakland, in a church crowded with friends who had driven down for the ceremony. Gowned in fashionable eggshell faille, with ruff, tight bodice, long train, and long veil, she also wore a tiny illusion veil which had been worn by her great-great-grandmother, Countess Victoria Varendouche at her presentation at the court of Queen Victoria. Carrying old-fashioned French nosegays of pink carnations and blue forget-me-nots, and gowned in bouffant dresses of pink and blue organdy, the attendants were: Marilyn Price, maid of honor, Miss Dianne Reinle and Mrs. Ellsworth Keene, and flower girl Judith Ann Hunter.

Miss McDonald is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Earl McDonald; the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Van Fleet of Piedmont. Jack Van Fleet attended his brother as best man, and ushers were Frank Moller, Jr., Ray Andriesse, Bradford Giles, and Dan Murphy.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Frank D. Moller in Carmel; the newlyweds then went to Pebble Beach lodge, and left the next day for a honeymoon in Santa Barbara and Santa Monica.

Summer Schedule

A new summer schedule for the Church of the Wayfarer begins on Sunday, according to the chairman of the religious education committee, Howard E. Timbers. Members of the Junior and Junior High department will attend the 9:30 a. m. church service. The kindergarten and primary department, which includes children up to the third grade, will now meet at the 9:30 o'clock hour, and parents of these children are asked to attend the church service which is held during this session.

Teachers On Vacation

Staff members and teachers of the Carmel High School are almost equally divided in their affection for Carmel, and their desire for a trip. About as many of them are staying here for the summer as are traveling about. Stuart Mitchell, superintendent, is staying in Carmel and building a new house, Harlan Reyburn, vice principal, is going to Stanford to work on his doctorate, Miss Dorothy Wright, also vice principal, has chosen Washington, D. C., for a rest cure, Mrs. Elise Beaton, who teaches Latin and French, is taking a trip to Tahoe and spending the rest of the time in Carmel. Mrs. Mariquita Brey of the English and dramatic department, is going to Tahoe for the summer. Howard Byrne, head of industrial arts, will be in Carmel; Miss Faith Conklin, head of girls' physical education, will go to Bread Loaf school of writing in Vermont, then take a year's leave of absence and go to England. Donald Craig, who teaches Spanish and English, will study French and German at summer school at the University of California. Miss Eleanor Crouch, librarian, will stay in Carmel. Charles Dawson will continue in charge of adult education classes; Mrs. Jane Down, mathematics, will teach summer school in Pacific Grove, and John Farr, head of the music department, will stay in Carmel.

One of the more exciting vacations will be that of Richard Hagadorn who will take a year's leave of absence to go to Paris and the University of Switzerland; Mrs. Frances Johnson, of the English department, will work at Stanford University; Miss Viola Konoche, social studies, will travel in the eastern part of the United States, Miss Enid Larsen, science department, will teach in Pacific Grove and move into a new house. Lloyd Miller, head of the commercial department, will attend Stanford and spend a week at Yosemite. George Mosolf, head of boys' physical education, will head the summer recreation program. Miss Hazel Shepherd, social studies, will attend Salinas summer session and take a trip to Nevada City. John Westover, chemistry, will stay in Carmel and help with the recreation program, and Mrs. Louise Bourne, head of home economics, will take a trip to Iowa. Ed Kincaid of the art department will take his master's degree at Stanford; Mrs. June Rico will work here and take a trip to Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Fresno, and Mrs. Mildred Riker, registrar, will stay in Carmel.

Graduation Exercises

Nine students graduated from the Douglas School at Pebble Beach at a formal dinner Tuesday evening, June 8, presided over by Mrs. Grace Douglas. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray was the main speaker of the evening, and diplomas were presented by Dr. Remsen Bird. Gowned in formal white and carrying red roses, graduating high school seniors were: Miss Dean Folger, Miss Joan Davidson, Miss Peggy Heebner, Miss Patricia Barnes, and Miss Susan Chase. The Junior graduates, in pastel gowns with pastel nosegays, were: Miss Barbara Register, Miss Phyllis Ekman, Miss Anne Coleman, and Miss Barbara Crawford. Miss Joan Davidson was toastmistress and valedictorian.

Mrs. Douglas presented the following trophies for the year: riding, Peggy Glaser and Felicia McKenna; tennis, Etienne Weicker and Phyllis Ekman; riflery, Marcia Kuster and Phyllis Ekman.

Among the guests who congratulated the graduates and who gathered with them later at an informal party at the Highlands Inn, were: Mr. and Mrs. James Abbe, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Flint, Mrs. Byron Folger, Moroni Olson, Mrs. Richard O. Bullis, Dr. Albert S. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Barnes, Mrs. Donald Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Folger, Dr. and Mrs. William G. Barrett, Mrs. Helen M. Ekman, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Coleman, Jr., William Crawford, Mrs. James Glaser, Mrs. E. D. Goodrich, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Kuster, Miss Tilly Polak, Mrs. Merle Crawford, Dr. and Mrs. Remsen Bird, Dr. and Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray, Terry Quinn, and Commander and Mrs. Elmer E. Meyers.

Mrs. Grace Douglas then left for her home in Los Angeles for a short vacation before opening the Douglas School for the summer. Part of the summer school time will be spent in the Carmel Valley.

Short Activities

Dean and Mary Jeffers of Mill Valley have been the house guests of Marie Short.

Eric Short spent two weeks with John and Peggy Short at their new home in Berkeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Short are now proud parents of a baby girl, Margaret Hatheway Short, born six weeks ago in Mill Valley.

Democratic Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Carmel Women's Democratic Club was held on Friday, June 11, at the home of Mrs. Ernest Leffingwell. An election of officers was held with Mrs. Leffingwell going in as quarterly chairman for the summer; Mrs. L. H. Alden as first vice president; Miss Rachel Hiller as second vice president; Mrs. Florence Sharon Brown as treasurer; Mrs. Fred Farr as secretary; Mrs. Farrar as general precinct chairman; and Miss Newell, Mrs. Kocher, and Mrs. E. A. Watson as the program committee.

In a secret ballot vote on preference of Democratic presidential candidate, the result was overwhelmingly in favor of Justice William O. Douglas, with Eisenhower taking second place, and Truman third.

John Plank, a student at Harvard, spoke on the presidential clubs at that university. The student organization for Justice Douglas is numerically the strongest, he said. Miss Suzanne Watson and Miss Anne Ickes, both students at Radcliffe, stated that the club organizations at their university are similar in strength and activity to those at Harvard. Miss Ickes is the granddaughter of Harold Ickes, former secretary of the Interior.

Motorcycle Tour

Last Wednesday morning, a smart new motorcycle buzzed through town manned by Corporal Walter Dean who had just graduated with honors from the Williams Air Force Base in Arizona. The corporal's fabulous motorcycle was complete with every useful modern gadget including a sleeping bag, a cooking outfit, and space, somewhere, to hold a change of clothes. He spent two days visiting Mrs. Florence Parker in Carmel, then started off for Fresno. He has planned a tour through all the Western states before arriving at his home in South Dakota. His father and mother, Colonel and Mrs. Walter Dean, used to live in Carmel when the Colonel was stationed at Fort Ord and their two sons attended Sunset School.

Women Voters Recess

With dues of sixty-nine members already paid up for the coming year, the Monterey Peninsula League of Women Voters is in recess until September. However, it was decided last week at a board meeting at the home of Mrs. Edmond Sullivan, president, that a small executive committee would meet during the summer at the call of the president, and the entire board would be called when it seems advisable. The committee will plan the method of study next year, with the most important subject on the national level being the strengthening and support of the work of the United Nations.

The subject of school redistricting in this area will be studied during the summer by a committee led by Mrs. Fred Farr, assisted by Miss Orre Haseltine and Mrs. John Geisen, with individuals in the various school districts concerned. The stand the League takes on the question will be at least in part determined by the finding of this committee; however, members as individuals are not bound by the League's decision. As in past years the organization will conduct a registration period before September 23 for voters who have moved or who have lost their place on the great register. An information booth at the County Fair is also planned. A candidates' meeting and one on the measures on the November ballot for a date in October and open to the public are also considered.

Mrs. Frances Ballard reported on the state convention held in Santa Monica last month, and Mrs. Sullivan told of the state board meeting which followed the convention. She said that California is now seventh in membership in the United States with 24 local leagues at the close of the league year May 1. A national budget of $147,000 has been adopted to enable the organization to finance its work of spreading information on public questions not only to its members, but to all citizens. Funds for the work of the national L. W. V. comes from dues of local members and from donations of persons who recognize the importance of this work.

THE SAFEST PLACE TO WORK

How busy telephone people kept accident rate low in communications industry

1. "Learn it the safe way," instructors tell new telephone men. This man is learning to use a screwdriver so the point can't hit any part of his body. Every detail is important in building a safety record that is tops in the National Safety Council's 1947 study.

2. The pike-pole test makes sure the pole is safe to climb - before a man goes up. In 1947 rules like this made ours the safest of all Council industries with 3.33 disabling injuries per million man-hours. That's five times better than average. Pacific Telephone's score of 2.76 was better still.

3. On the road...as on the job...safety for others and for themselves comes first with Pacific Telephone people. All work with their famed safety motto in mind: "No job is so important and no service is so urgent that we cannot take time to perform our work safely."

Telephone jobs must be good jobs to attract the capable people needed to furnish good service. Good pay, steady work and an employee benefit plan give a strong sense of security. Comfortable surroundings, vacations and friendly fellow workers help make work pleasant.

Varda Collages

This Sunday there will be a reception to preview the latest collages of Jean Varda which will be hung in the Pat Wall gallery. These collages are devoted to Varda's most intense devotion, Women, and will no doubt be full of the fantasy, imagination, wild humor and beauty with which Varda supplies his canvases.

Mr. Varda will be down from San Francisco to help hang the canvases and will join Mrs. Harris and Mr. Wall on the reception committee Sunday.

Barbecue Party

Vi Baus entertained a small group of people last week at her newly rented cottage in the Carmel Valley with a barbecue party. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dee Scherman, Herb Brownell, Leo Tanous, and Mrs. Kay Brownell. Mr. Tanous has just returned from a jaunt to Colorado.

Call From The Jeffers

Donnan and Lee Jeffers received a phone call last week from Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Jeffers in New York, just before their take-off for Ireland. They said that New York was pretty hot right now but aside from that everything was fine.

Back From New York

Gerald Wasserman, who left the Peninsula about four months ago for New York, is now back and plans to stay here permanently. Mr. Wasserman says that he enjoyed New York thoroughly, saw a great many of his old friends, studied art, and in general had a good time.

Sunset Teacher Vacations

Sunset School teachers are all making vacation plans which include far away places as well as lots of relaxing in Carmel, with a few side trips to keep things interesting. Staying in Carmel for the summer are Marjorie McCausland, Arthur C. Hull, Constance McLaughlin, Harriett A. Norman, Mrs. Katherine French, Ernest R. Calley, Anna Kohner, Ann B. Uzzell, Myra T. Mylar and Mrs. Dorothy Russel Skelley.

Teachers vacationing away from home are Beatrice Rea, who is going to New York City and Washington, D. C., and Marcia De Voe who is leaving July 5 for a month's trip to Alaska. She is taking the Alaska steamship Aleutian on the Inland Passage route north to Seward with several ports of call enroute. She plans to take colored pictures and also to tour British Columbia.

In complete tropical opposition is Winifred Regier, who is going for a two months' vacation to Hawaii and will stay at the Royal Hawaiian. Mrs. Robert H. Nye is driving with her family to Bellevue, Washington. Mabel A. Hart will spend the summer at her cabin in the Sierra, Mr. and Mrs. Orville C. Rogers are going to Ann Arbor, Michigan, where Mr. Rogers plans to attend the University of Michigan summer session, and Virginia Neill Rush will go to Newport beach to bask in the warm sunshine. James H. Blee is counting on Sequoia National Park for a good vacation. Edna C. Lockwood will spend most of the summer at Clear Lake, Highlands; and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Holman are driving north to Oregon with their sons, Jamie and Danny.

Florence Morrow says that her summer plans are too indefinite as yet and that she will probably build herself a lean-to somewhere, "be a squatter and darn some things I orta."

Ski Instructor Here

Spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. George Wilcox were Mr. and Mrs. John Litchfield and their daughter, Mary Isabel. The Litchfields were connected with the ski resort at Aspen before they moved to Sun Valley where Mr. Litchfield is a ski instructor.

Colorado Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Stroup drove from Salida, Colorado, arriving in Carmel Saturday afternoon for a week's visit with their son, Richard Stroup. Mr. Stroup entertained them with a cocktail party Tuesday afternoon at his home in the Carmel Highlands.

Varda Women

The walls were covered with brilliant collages of pink and purple and green women in various attitudes of repose, mass migration or seduction, and you knew that another Varda show was hung about you. The time was Sunday afternoon, and the reception was to honor Jean Varda who had arrived from San Francisco to be present at the latest showing of his paintings at the Pat Wall gallery in Monterey, with Gertrude Harris presiding as hostess.

Among the guests at the reception were: Miss Rosalind Sharpe, Pat Wall, Mrs. Doris Wright, Dan Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Neville Cramer, John Grace, Michael Franke, Gerald Wasserman, Miss Virginia Blair, Mrs. Frances Kalish, Miss Lois Dunham, Toby Street, Miss Nancy Tackett, Remo Scardigli,

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hartman, and Alexander Oumansky.

After the reception the guests were entertained at the studio of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Sales, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hartman, and Alexander Oumansky.

Shows Butano Forest Slides

C. Edward Graves was in San Francisco Monday for a showing of his 35 mm. color slides of Crater Lake, the Tetons, and Butano Forest at the home of Mrs. Edward O. Allen (Suzanne Pasmore of the Pasmore Trio.) About fifty guests enjoyed the showing, among them a number of Mr. Graves' fellow Sierra Club members, who are participating in the campaign to save the redwoods of the Butano Forest in San Mateo County, which are scheduled for cutting by an Oregon lumber company.

He and Mrs. Graves spent the preceding week in Yosemite, where he photographed the early spring flower display. He reports that the dogwood is in magnificent flower.

News From Travelers

The last place Carol Howard was heard from was somewhere in China, having an excellent time. She reports that passengers change constantly at all the ports which makes it lots more fun for the longer-term passenger.

Dr. Eric Berne left San Francisco as reported but having made ten different plans for ten different boats, he finally caught a flying boat and went straight to Manila, where he will catch a regular boat again and pursue his course around the world.

Sammie Colburn is still in New Mexico, having left Virginia City and Denver weeks behind him. His car broke down in the desert, he says, so he is just hanging around Santa Fe and having a delicious time painting. He says the fishing hasn't been any good anywhere.

G. S. Council Picnic

The Carmel Girl Scouts Council gave a picnic supper Wednesday on the beach adjacent to Tor House, in honor of Miss Virginia Johnston, executive secretary of the Monterey Peninsula Girl Scouts, Inc.

A Mexican supper was served around the camp fire. Miss Johnston was presented with a leather wallet as a parting gift from the Carmel Council.

Those present were: Miss Virginia Johnston, and Mesdames Julian von Meier, Elizabeth Dunning, John J. Walsh, Orville Rogers, Donnan Jeffers, Virginia Lawrence, Bruce Galloway, Jane Blum, Paul Chedester, M. J. Auker, Charles Dawson, R. S. Sutton, A. W. Meiners, Ralph Martineau, Helen Wilson, and Miss Audrey Walton.

Aloha Party

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephenson gave a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nye, who are leaving Carmel to make their home in Seattle. Among the guests at the barbecue supper were: Paul and Lucille Shattuck, Kraig Shattuck, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Krall and son, Robert, Jr., Mrs. Calvin Flint, and Quentin Warren.

Virginia City Residents

Jean Martin, former Carmelite, is now living in Virginia City. Also Zorie Kramer, who used to visit Carmel frequently, and did decorating here with Zahara Schatz, has a house in Virginia City and seems to be permanently settled there.

PHIL NESBITT

paints signs best suited to the Carmel scene. Also he paints attractive murals for over mantels and homes. In fact, any artistic requirement probably can be served by dropping a card to the artist at Box 483, RFD., 1, Carmel

Honoring Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dibert entertained with a cocktail party Saturday night honoring the engagement of Barbara Lipscombe and Bill Cranston. Among the fifty or so guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Geisen, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Farr, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Whitby, and Miss Dorothy Druhe.

Miss Lipscombe and Mr. Cranston will be married Saturday, June 19, at the Church of the Wayfarer. It will be a quiet wedding with only members of the family present.

Durrells Go East

The Carl Durrells of Pasadena, who usually spend the summer in Carmel, left for Hinsdale, Illinois, Thursday to visit their daughter, Peggy, and be on hand for the arrival of their second grandchild. They are making plans to return in the fall via the Canadian Pacific with stops over at Lake Louise and Jasper. They write that they will miss their annual visit with their fellow Audubonites in Carmel but expect to become familiar with the Illinois birds since they will spend part of their summer in a cottage on Lake Michigan. They add that former Carmel residents, the W. E. Schencks, who now live at Twenty-Nine Palms, are spending the summer at Grand Teton National Park.

Officers Elected

Initiation of new members and election of officers for 1948-49 term were the main features of the regular Tuesday meeting of Carmel Unit No. 512 of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Conducted by unit members and past president of King City Unit No. 67, Mrs. Reene M. Coleman, assisted by unit officers Ruth Andrews, Helen Berkey, Alice Landers, Betty Leslie and Lillian Woolsey, an impressive candlelight ceremony initiated new members Harriet Anderson (by proxy), Doris Campbell, Eloise S. Dawson, Charlotte Hart and Mary L. Rice.

The following officers were elected to 1948-49 term and will be installed at the regular July meeting: Mrs. Mausita Kreisler, president; Mrs. Bonnie Giles, first vice president; Mrs. Hilda Jukes, second vice president; Mrs. Alice Askew, secretary; Mrs. Mary Martin, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Dufur, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Alice Landers, chaplain, and Mrs. Hazel Maury, historian.

Fish Fry

A fish fry was held Sunday evening at Reamer's Point when over 100 pounds of fish caught by George Willox and Herb Vial were cooked on the beach and eaten by Marie Short, Jake Kenney, Lili and Bob Smith, Loli Willox, Miriam Delaplane, Christine Delaplane, Jack and Florence Geisen, Colin Alderman, Brad and Dotty Bowman, and Roberta Simon.

San Francisco Notes

Jan Garth, of Carmel Playhouse fame, glimpsed theatre-going in amber suede coat; Miss Garth is still recuperating from a very bad collision in which she suffered a fractured skull and severe cuts and bruises; eating his way through heaps of Spanish food was artist Robert McChesney whose last show here was about two years ago; June Degnan, citified and very chic, visiting away in the Orchid Room; Otto Wincler, one-time partner of the Di Girolomo brothers, still haunting the Iron Pot; and Commander Bill Young, rhumbaing at the Drake.

Return To Carmel

Mary J. Coulter, California artist at present residing in Santa Barbara, is visiting in Carmel as the house guest of an old friend, Mrs. A. W. Cooper, a new resident here, who lives at Camino Real and Twelfth streets. Years ago Mrs. Coulter spent many summers here and was a member of the artists' colony. She is a painter, etcher, and art lecturer, and several of her etchings of Carmel subjects are in the permanent print collections of such museums as our Metropolitan in New York, the Art Institute of Chicago, and many other American museums; in Europe, in the Chalcographie du Louvre in Paris, and the British Museum in London.

Miss Coulter will be in Carmel for the rest of the week; she is enjoying seeing her many old friends and is seriously considering making Carmel her permanent residence.

Flying To Portland

Going by plane to Portland to help celebrate the arrival in Oregon of her grandparents and their families by covered wagon one hundred years ago, Miss L. Lucile Turner is leaving the Peninsula at noon today by United Air Lines. A two day celebration will be held June 26 and 27. Miss Turner expects to be gone two or three weeks.

Palm Springs Visitor

Joeann Burness drove out from Palm Springs last Tuesday and spent the day visiting Barbara Schilley who is the house guest of Mrs. Clark Park at her home on the Carmel Point.

How to Live Longer

Someone asked Pappy Miller last week how he stayed so spry at ninety. Pappy told him:

"Well, sir—when I work, I work hard. When I set, I set loose. When I think, I go to sleep."

According to Doc Hollister, that formula isn't far amiss. "Hard work," says Doc, "never wore out anyone before his time, providing he knew how and when to relax."

Doc himself works overtime, with his daytime patients at the office, and his evening calls. And when he gets home he takes it easy with a mellow glass of beer and chats with the missus until it's time to go to bed.

From where I sit, relaxing is a fine art—especially in these tense, fast-moving times. And there's nothing like a temperate glass of beer—enjoyed with pleasant company—to restore that easy frame of mind that one needs after a hard day's work.

The clever GARDEN SHOP on San Carlos, whose doors opened June 7, shows what can be done with a shop where displays are made with the utmost imagination. Here, garden tools and supplies and garden gifts are displayed around mossy picket fences, old bricks and growing plants. Smocks for gardening, colored shovels and coolie hats have a background of canvas and garden atmosphere. Barbecue supplies are arranged with proper spirit. The shop is clever and gay enough to inspire you to start a garden if you haven't and to do all kinds of fanciful things with the one you have. Be sure to visit the new GARDEN SHOP.

The Dalmatian Coast, the Cornish coast, the eternal French Riviera, are all places we've heard about or visited but none outshines our own Point Lobos coast, and the most perfect place to view these rugged outlines is from the HIGHLANDS INN, where you can sit in the ultra civilized chaise longue and gaze on perfect beauty with a cocktail in your hand; or you can be seated in the dining room and have million dollar scenery all about you while you feast on superb food. Drive up the beautiful road to the HIGHLANDS INN, and do magnificent wining and dining and view gazing.

Last week we suggested that you breakfast from KIP'S and this week we suggest luncheon based on wonderful salads made from the assorted greens and fresh vegetables and tomatoes and celery and radishes in KIP'S produce department and solidly whipped up with mayonnaise or French dressing from KIP'S shelves; or fruit salads made with avocado and all the fresh fruits now displayed and served with whipped cream from convenient refrigerators. Luncheon is simple and easy when you shop at KIP'S; everything is there for salad making and the freshest and finest you can find.

We remind you again that HARRIET DUNCAN is putting on one of her fine fashion shows Wednesday evening, June 23, at 8:15, at the Highlands Inn. The clothes will be modeled in the lobby after a buffet dinner, and all of you fashion conscious, fashion curious people, and we definitely mean men, too, will want to be there, for Miss Duncan not only has fabulous clothes to show, but has a sweet knack and arrangement about showing them. So join the fashionable crowd at the fashion show Wednesday evening, June 23, at the Highlands Inn. Tickets can be had from the HARRIET DUNCAN shop on Sixth Avenue.

Carmelites and vacationists will be delighted to know that the charming BLUE BIRD RESTAURANT on Ocean Avenue is now open seven days a week and is serving, as usual, complete dinners starting at $1.50. The BLUE BIRD is also a popular place for lunches where the service is quick, the tables are neat, and your lunch starts at .75, or you can have a great variety of choice in the matter of sandwiches or salads. The BLUE BIRD is located right on Ocean Avenue and is particularly convenient as you stroll back from a look at the sunset on the beach, or if you are looking for a cool fresh salad after a good bake in the sun.

Father's Day is going to give you an excellent chance really to remember your father and do something nice for him, and the sweetest way you can do it is with flowers from the FLOR DE MON-

TEREY. Men, being sensitive creatures, appreciate flowers just as much as the so-called fairer and frailer sex, though they don't seem to have as much opportunity to do so. Fill your father's rooms with bright blossoms, give him a flower for his buttonhole, place flowers before him at dinner and make him happy and content on Father's Day.

Barney Laiolo announces that the VILLAGE RADIO AND ELECTRIC SHOP is now the authorized dealer for L and H electric ranges and Crosley Shelvador refrigerators and ranges. Models in each of these are available for immediate delivery. All you new home builders and buyers will be delighted to know where you can find such excellent kitchen equipment and everyone doing re-modeling will also be pleased with this knowledge.

Along with the specially delicious coffee and the good .60 or .75 lunches you have been enjoying at MILDRED'S on Pearl street in Monterey, you can now have enchiladas, tamales, and chili beans served to you every day but Sunday and any time of the day from 6:30 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. These Mexican niceties come in fresh from Hollister three times a week and make three more good reasons why it's pleasant to stop at MILDRED'S when you're down town in Monterey and want something delicious to eat.

Summer vacationists returning to Carmel will want to dash into their favorite beauty shop and get ready to enjoy themselves. ARMAND'S BEAUTY SALON is still on Dolores Street, but farther down on the opposite side, and right off Ocean Avenue. Three skillful operators are ready to take care of you, and all types of permanents are being featured. ARMAND is also using a new technique in hair coloring. So remember this new location when you return to Carmel, and go into ARMAND'S BEAUTY SALON for your summer beauty work.

The CARMEL VALLEY INN which is always popping up with new ideas and plans is starting a series of ten dances which will begin Friday night, June 18, and continue thereafter every Friday night. The subscription rate for the dances will be $10.00 plus tax, or if a single person wishes to come, it will be $1.50 plus tax a dance. The music will play from 9:00 p. m. until 1:00 a. m., and the dancing will be held in the beautiful dining room, whose expansive windows hold a night view of softly outlined hills and low hung stars. It sounds most romantic to dance the Friday night hours away at the CARMEL VALLEY INN.

A beautiful cuckoo clock is waiting for someone at the VILLAGE JEWELERS on Dolores street; one of the first imports during or since the war, and probably the last, the hand carved cuckoo clock has arrived from Switzerland and is ready to delight the whole family in the memorial cuckoo way. Decorated with bears and pine cones, the clock costs $75.00 and will probably be the only one you will be able to get. So if you have been waiting years to have a cuckoo clock, here is a chance for you if you get into the VILLAGE JEWELERS soon enough, for there is only one.

On the mind of every June bride and just as important as her marriage and honeymoon, is the house she will furnish and the beautiful things she will put in it. PUTNAM AND RAGGETT has the perfect June bride gifts: white wool blankets, North Star of Kenwood, in three different price ranges; and Utica Beatale sheets, the finest percale sheet, which comes in plain, hemstitched or scalloped edges. You can have the satisfaction of giving a bride the perfect gift by presenting her with fine sheets or blankets or both.

For Father's Day select a subtle and different gift from the small silver pieces now displayed at the "HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT". The pieces are exquisitely fashioned and are all things that your father could use and show that you have thought of him. You might choose a bottle opener, or a coaster set made of glass with sterling silver sides; you might please your father with a pair of silver poultry shears, or if he's a smoking man, give him ash trays, match box covers, cigarette urns or a fine lighter. Any one of these small silver pieces would be an interesting and different gift.

When you plan your vacation your main clothes concentration is on bathing suits, or a minimum amount of clothes, and your main beauty concentration is on the slimmness of your waist and the slenderness of your hips. And that is where the STAUFFER SYSTEM will come to your rescue. There's probably not a woman alive who is quite content with her hip width and wouldn't like to beat it down a few inches. Make an appointment with the popular STAUFFER SYSTEM and let those rhythmic precise machines ever so gently roll away extra flesh. An appointment with the STAUFFER SYSTEM is a guarantee of slender beauty.

Among the many books at the VILLAGE BOOK STORE on Ocean Avenue which your father would enjoy for his remembrance gift on Father's Day, are three which would particularly interest him. Readers of Western history and Western days would be delighted with Warpath and Council Fire by the eminently known Stanley Vestal; Eugene Lyons has done a fine study on Our Unknown Ex-President, A Portrait of Herbert Hoover; and those who have met and known Bing Crosby will especially enjoy The Incredible Crosby, by Barry Ulanov.

One of the most fascinating books of the century is now to be found at the Book Den at HOLMAN'S in Pacific Grove. The book is the first in a series of five of Winston Churchill's memoirs, and is titled: The Gathering Storm. Publication date is Monday, June 21, and the book is priced at $5.00 before publication, and $6.00 afterwards. Publishers are Houghton, Mifflin and Co. in Boston. Everyone will want to read Mr. Churchill's memoirs and get the inside story of world events as recorded by one of the great men of our time.

Stemming from the days when each man had his own shaving mug in the barber shop, the HERITAGE ANTIQUE SHOP has a wonderful collection of occupational shaving mugs which would make excellent and amusing presents for Father's Day. There are mugs for an engineer, a fireman, a groceryman, and a bootmaker. Other neat gifts to please father with would be the shining brass lanterns to light his way home nights or a huge old globe in a great square case to let him swirl around and plan adventures with. Wander through the HERITAGE ANTIQUE SHOP and let Mrs. Clarabut help you select a gift for Father's Day.

It's summer time in Carmel and ice cream time at the VILLAGE CORNER where nine different flavors of ice cream are waiting to please you and cool you; the favorite is coffee ice cream, which is good either eaten at the corner or taken home. And there is always the added note of one of four kinds of chocolate syrup to pep up your dish of ice cream, or you might feel like sitting in the patio with a soda in your hand, or a big husky milkshake. Anyway, we all know that when the sun is out, there is one thing we don't want to be without, and that's ice cream from the VILLAGE CORNER.

Father likes candy just as much as anybody else, and now that Father's Day is approaching, you might as well give him a box and make him feel like a kid again. Out of the 84 varieties at the VILLAGE CANDY SHOP you will surely be able to find one kind he would like. Be just as nice to him as you were to Mother on her day, and give him a great big box of candy from the VILLAGE CANDY SHOP.

If you vision an artful and dexterous house sign to hang as an introduction to your house, go to the PENINSULA PAINT POT where imaginative signs have been designed in the shape of trees, animals and ships, on which is printed the name of your place, or your own name if you choose. Perhaps you would like to make a sketch of some fanciful design you have in mind and take it in to the PAINT POT where you can discuss color, lettering and so on, and have a custom made sign designed from your own ideas. There is no reason why your house sign should not be as exciting as your furniture and your house. Phone 1684-J or visit the PENINSULA PAINT POT on Fifth and Mission Streets.

The spirit of a Spanish fiesta will permeate the Carmel Valley now that Daavin Johnston is starting his Spanish dancing classes at DeAmaral's barn. Mr. Johnston learned the dances in the countries where they originated, studying and teaching in South America, the West Indies and Mexico, to mention a few. Sambas, rumbas, the guaracha, a fast rumba, and La Raspa and La Chiapaneca, in which everyone participates will be danced at each lesson. Wednesday evening, June 23, from 7:30 to 8:30 will be the first lesson, and thereafter every Wednesday. The lessons will be $1.50 per person per lesson so that no one will feel obligated for a series. There is going to be a lot of dancing in the valley and roundabouts this summer, and it will be fun to know that you are up on your rumba and samba. Women are planning on wearing long skirts and peasant blouses, and the classes will have a spirit of gaiety and an exotic flavor that no one will want to miss.

Your distinguished man of the year, your father, will appreciate a distinguished gift selected from GUMP'S beautiful collection of fine things. You might present your father with a fine leather humidor from Italy, a leather desk set, or several beer or mint julep tall cups of spun aluminum in wonderful shades of copper, bronze and silver. If he's a great he-man who likes to show off at a barbecue party, you might give him a handsome steak set, if he likes to keep his things in order, give him a wallet or a key chain, and of course a cigarette lighter for the gallant man who likes to keep the ladies' cigarettes lit on time. You are sure to find a distinguished gift at GUMP'S that will distinguish you for fine taste.

Pure silk is nothing to sneeze about; in fact, people usually get a look of awe on their faces and go around saying Pure Silk to themselves as though a miracle had occurred. The miracle has happened at GAIL COUPE'S shop on San Carlos where three dozen pure silk blouses have arrived to make everybody gasp. The blouses are short sleeved, are in prints, have plain necklines perfect for suits; the second miracle takes place when the price is mentioned for you can get these pure silk blouses for $7.95! ### Large Mission Wedding

A gala wedding took place at the Carmel Mission Saturday afternoon at 3:30 when Miss Mary McClure of Piedmont and Carmel Valley became the bride of Mr. Allan Boone Crowe of Piedmont. Miss McClure is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George McClure; Mr. Crowe is the son of Mrs. Giles Short and Mr. Allan Crowe.

Gowned in white organdy with a long train and a short veil carrying daisies and carnations arranged with eyelet embroidery which matched the embroidery on her organdy gown, the bride was given away by her father. Maid of honor was Nancy McClure, sister of the bride, who wore yellow marquisette, with a large yellow picture hat, and carried blue and yellow daisies. The entire wedding colors were of spring-like blue and yellow. Bridesmaids Miss Virginia Carter of Piedmont, and Miss Patsy Harris of Piedmont, wore pale blue with yellow daisies, and Miss Sallie McClure, sister of the bride, wore a wreath of flowers with her pale blue dress to show that she was a junior bridesmaid of thirteen. Cousin of the bride, Adrienne Gensoul, wore yellow organdy, carried a basket of daisies and was flower girl for the wedding. Mrs. Short was gown in Chantilly lace and matching hat, all the color of ashes of roses, while Mrs. McClure wore gray chiffon with a large yellow picture hat and carried yellow roses. Best man at the wedding was Larry Sherman, Jr., of Piedmont, and ushers were Dick Trezevant, Paul Mouser, and Kenna McClure.

Approximately 170 guests witnessed the wedding and gathered at the McClure ranch in the Carmel Valley where a reception was held around the ranch pool, and wedding cake and champagne were served. Most of the guests were from Piedmont, but among the Carmel people present were Dr. and Mrs. Horace Dormody and daughter, Pamela, Mrs. Harriet Hotson and Miss Anne Hotson, Dr. and Mrs. Ray Brownell, Herb Brownell and Leo Tanous.

After the reception the couple went to the Highlands Inn for a few days then returned to the valley where they will stay for the summer. Mrs. Crowe says that her family has built a small house for them to live in. In the fall they will return to Alameda where Mr. Crowe will attend the University of San Francisco. He is studying medicine.

Carmel Graduates From Stanford

Graduating from Stanford last week were seven Carmel students. Baird Dolman received his Bachelor of Arts in the school of biological sciences; Gordon Russell Ewig received his Master of Business Administration in the graduate school of business; Master of Arts in physical therapy was Ruth Cook of the school of education; the school of humanities gave a Bachelor of Arts in speech and drama to Joseph Otto Balogh; the school of law gave a Bachelor of law to Hamilton Murray Peyton; a Bachelor of Arts was received by Willis Reilly Richey and by Peter Albert Low in the school of social sciences.

Musical Evening

Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock, Angie Machado presented two piano students, Willette Torres and Arthur Balazs, in a musical program at the home of Frances McDonald. Robert Jensen, tenor, sang two groups of vocal numbers. The program was for a small group of friends, and after the playing and singing refreshments were served.

Visits And Guests

Busy Mrs. Karl W. Hisgen spent last Friday in Palo Alto visiting a group of army friends, then dashed up to San Francisco to hear her good friend, Susanna Foster, sing in the operetta, Naughty Marietta. Recent house guests of the Hisgens have been Brig. General George A. Taylor, Colonel and Mrs. Robert McBride, the Colonel is the new chief of staff at Fort Ord, and Betty Smith of Hollywood, and Phyllis Davies and Ruth Lewis of Stanford.

Fashion Show

Hit and absolute queen of the Gail Coupe fashion show, presented Wednesday afternoon at the Pine Inn, was Judy Thomas, miniature black French poodle belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Bess Thomas. Judy made her first appearance in the arms of platinum blonde, Mrs. Ann Miller, who wore striking black satin; Judy wore black fur, a red satin bow and red lacquered nails; the combination of black, platinum, and red, plus Judy's fabulous personality, made a striking hit. Miss Thomas' second appearance was in the arms of redheaded Margot Bauer, who carried Judy pressed against a dashing purple suit.

A two piece bathing suit with South Sea-ish bamboo design started the fashion show and was followed by a delicious five piece outfit in white sharkskin of bolero jacket, chaps, which resembled harem trousers, and blue cummerbund; the model carried the matching shorts and pedal pushers. Accent on lovely summer colors showed in a great many of the clothes, a pale cream dress covered with pink flowers, a long sleeved fitted yellow suit, an exceptionally graceful strapless striped dress of brown and white with green cummerbund and bolero jacket, a bright kelly green jacket playing up a crisp white dress with gold buttons, gold belt, lovely lines of shocking pink running horizontally through a gray chambray dress, and a striking print of sea green colors. Smartly suave was the elephant gray of a long waisted, zig zag buttoned, suit, and the gunmetal of a gorgeously fitting dress with a side drape in front.

The other three models were Mrs. Margaret Burquist from Monterey, Miss Jan Wallace from San Francisco, and Miss Charlotte Bohn of Carmel. The models did ample credit to the beautiful clothes that Gail Coupe presented.

Next week the Country Shop will present fashions at the Wednesday luncheon.

Party For Cast

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kuster were hosts to a party held in the green room after the Monday night performance of Counselor at Law, the latest Edward Kuster production. Wives and husbands and relatives of the cast were invited, and weiners and beer were the refreshments served. Cooky Crouch, who helped with properties and makeup was on hand, as was Mrs. G. Ridgley Parker, who was in charge of makeup. Steve Crouch had a fine time taking candid camera shots of everyone.

Children's Crusade

With noble medieval implications in its name, the Children's Crusade is under way on the Peninsula, with the full backing of the United Nations. Field representative Mrs. Marian Matthews from San Francisco is helping organize Peninsula women for their part in this international drive. Carmel captains are: Mrs. Burton Doolittle, Mrs. James Doud, Major General E. G. Chapman, Mrs. James Hatlo, Mrs. C. D. Edgar, Miss Jane Blum, Miss June Brennan, Mrs. Darryl Shewell, Miss Alice McClure, Mrs. Paul Low, Miss Dorothy Way, Mrs. Milacey Morrow, Mrs. Thomas Bunn, Mrs. R. G. Mason, Col. Roy Hillyer, who is chairman of the business area, Col. L. W. Glazebrook, residential chairman, Mrs. Edward Keely, Mrs. B. B. Thomas, Mrs. A. C. Croftan, Mrs. Walter Lehmann, Mrs. John Geisen, Mr. Blanchard Steeves. Point Lobos captain is Mrs. L. H. Hudson; Carmel Highlands captain, Mr. Ray Spiking, and Monterey Country Club area, Mrs. Frances G. Hawley. The Carmel Valley has been divided into sections with Mrs. Connie Flavin in charge of the Cachagua district, Mrs. Fred Godwin in charge of the Robles del Rio section, with Mrs. Edgar Haber working with her. From the Salinas grade on down is Mrs. Frances Andrews' territory, then Mrs. Miles Leoni is in charge, with Mrs. Hattie Kieran taking charge of the lower valley. Mr. Eric Petri is general over-all secretary of the various groups.

Dawn Named Editor

Graduate of Carmel elementary schools and Monterey Union High School, Michal Dawn Overhulse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Overhulse of Carmel, has been named editor of Lycurgus, the San Jose State College feature magazine for the 1948-1949 school year. Miss Overhulse will be a senior English major at San Jose next year. Remember Dawn's clever linoleum cuts in The Pine Cone and feature articles in The Cymbal?

Home From Germany

Mrs. Robert Monasmith, daughter of Mrs. Mansfield Turney of Carmel, and her husband, Staff Sergeant Robert Monasmith, have arrived after 14 months of life in Germany where Staff Sergeant Monasmith was stationed in Coburg. They flew back via Pan American with stopovers in London and Newfoundland. Mrs. Monasmith reports that though she had a good time in Germany, visiting many of the large towns around Coburg, and making a fascinating collection of glass figurines made by the Germans in the Russian Zone, she was delighted to return to Carmel. The Monasmiths will leave the first of July for their new station at Fort Dix, New Jersey.

Graduation Parties

After graduation Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dewar held open house for the graduates and their parents, families and guests, serving a buffet supper. Other after graduation parties were given by Edith Barbie, who gave a dance at her home in Pebble Beach, and by Charis Johns and Sunny Cook, who entertained friends at the home of Miss Elsa Blackman, Charis' aunt. Saturday night, Carmelita J. Fortier did honors with a barbecue party at the Monterey Country Club.

Newsreel Glimpse

Recently glimpsed in a newsreel was Bill Fassett's uncle, Stanton Griffis, our ambassador to Poland, and a chairman on the board of Paramount Pictures. The ambassador was photographed returning to this country from Poland.

The clever GARDEN SHOP on San Carlos, whose doors opened June 7, shows what can be done with a shop where displays are made with the utmost imagination. Here, garden tools and supplies and garden gifts are displayed around mossy picket fences, old bricks and growing plants. Smocks for gardening, colored shovels and coolie hats have a background of canvas and garden atmosphere. Barbecue supplies are arranged with proper spirit. The shop is clever and gay enough to inspire you to start a garden if you haven't and to do all kinds of fanciful things with the one you have. Be sure to visit the new GARDEN SHOP.

The Dalmatian Coast, the Cornish coast, the eternal French Riviera, are all places we've heard about or visited but none outshines our own Point Lobos coast, and the most perfect place to view these rugged outlines is from the HIGHLANDS INN, where you can sit in the ultra civilized chaise longue and gaze on perfect beauty with a cocktail in your hand; or you can be seated in the dining room and have million dollar scenery all about you while you feast on superb food. Drive up the beautiful road to the HIGHLANDS INN, and do magnificent wining and dining and view gazing.

Last week we suggested that you breakfast from KIP'S and this week we suggest luncheon based on wonderful salads made from the assorted greens and fresh vegetables and tomatoes and celery and radishes in KIP'S produce department and solidly whipped up with mayonnaise or French dressing from KIP'S shelves; or fruit salads made with avocado and all the fresh fruits now displayed and served with whipped cream from convenient refrigerators. Luncheon is simple and easy when you shop at KIP'S; everything is there for salad making and the freshest and finest you can find.

We remind you again that HARRIET DUNCAN is putting on one of her fine fashion shows Wednesday evening, June 23, at 8:15, at the Highlands Inn. The clothes will be modeled in the lobby after a buffet dinner, and all of you fashion conscious, fashion curious people, and we definitely mean men, too, will want to be there, for Miss Duncan not only has fabulous clothes to show, but has a sweet knack and arrangement about showing them. So join the fashionable crowd at the fashion show Wednesday evening, June 23, at the Highlands Inn. Tickets can be had from the HARRIET DUNCAN shop on Sixth Avenue.

Carmelites and vacationists will be delighted to know that the charming BLUE BIRD RESTAURANT on Ocean Avenue is now open seven days a week and is serving, as usual, complete dinners starting at $1.50. The BLUE BIRD is also a popular place for lunches where the service is quick, the tables are neat, and your lunch starts at .75, or you can have a great variety of choice in the matter of sandwiches or salads. The BLUE BIRD is located right on Ocean Avenue and is particularly convenient as you stroll back from a look at the sunset on the beach, or if you are looking for a cool fresh salad after a good bake in the sun.

Father's Day is going to give you an excellent chance really to remember your father and do something nice for him, and the sweetest way you can do it is with flowers from the FLOR DE MON-

TEREY. Men, being sensitive creatures, appreciate flowers just as much as the so-called fairer and frailer sex, though they don't seem to have as much opportunity to do so. Fill your father's rooms with bright blossoms, give him a flower for his buttonhole, place flowers before him at dinner and make him happy and content on Father's Day.

Barney Laiolo announces that the VILLAGE RADIO AND ELECTRIC SHOP is now the authorized dealer for L and H electric ranges and Crosley Shelvador refrigerators and ranges. Models in each of these are available for immediate delivery. All you new home builders and buyers will be delighted to know where you can find such excellent kitchen equipment and everyone doing re-modeling will also be pleased with this knowledge.

Along with the specially delicious coffee and the good .60 or .75 lunches you have been enjoying at MILDRED'S on Pearl street in Monterey, you can now have enchiladas, tamales, and chili beans served to you every day but Sunday and any time of the day from 6:30 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. These Mexican niceties come in fresh from Hollister three times a week and make three more good reasons why it's pleasant to stop at MILDRED'S when you're down town in Monterey and want something delicious to eat.

Summer vacationists returning to Carmel will want to dash into their favorite beauty shop and get ready to enjoy themselves. ARMAND'S BEAUTY SALON is still on Dolores Street, but farther down on the opposite side, and right off Ocean Avenue. Three skillful operators are ready to take care of you, and all types of permanents are being featured. ARMAND is also using a new technique in hair coloring. So remember this new location when you return to Carmel, and go into ARMAND'S BEAUTY SALON for your summer beauty work.

The CARMEL VALLEY INN which is always popping up with new ideas and plans is starting a series of ten dances which will begin Friday night, June 18, and continue thereafter every Friday night. The subscription rate for the dances will be $10.00 plus tax, or if a single person wishes to come, it will be $1.50 plus tax a dance. The music will play from 9:00 p. m. until 1:00 a. m., and the dancing will be held in the beautiful dining room, whose expansive windows hold a night view of softly outlined hills and low hung stars. It sounds most romantic to dance the Friday night hours away at the CARMEL VALLEY INN.

A beautiful cuckoo clock is waiting for someone at the VILLAGE JEWELERS on Dolores street; one of the first imports during or since the war, and probably the best, the hand carved cuckoo clock has arrived from Switzerland and is ready to delight the whole family in the immortal cuckoo way. Decorated with bears and pine cones, the clock costs $75.00 and will probably be the only one you will be able to get. So if you have been waiting years to have a cuckoo clock, here is a chance for you if you get into the VILLAGE JEWELERS soon enough, for there is only one.

On the mind of every June bride and just as important as her marriage and honeymoon, is the house she will furnish and the beautiful things she will put in it. PUTNAM AND RAGGETT has the perfect June bride gifts: white wool blankets, North Star of Kenwood, in three different price ranges; and Utica Beauticale sheets, the finest percale sheet, which comes in plain, hemstitched or scalloped edges. You can have the satisfaction of giving a bride the perfect gift by presenting her with fine sheets or blankets or both.

For Father's Day select a subtle and different gift from the small silver pieces now displayed at the HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT. The pieces are exquisitely fashioned and are all things that your father could use and show that you have thought of him. You might choose a bottle opener, or a coaster set made of glass with sterling silver sides; you might please your father with a pair of silver poultry shears, or if he's a smoking man, give him ash trays, match box covers, cigarette urns or a fine lighter. Any one of these small silver pieces would be an interesting and different gift.

When you plan your vacation your main clothes concentration is on bathing suits, or a minimum amount of clothes, and your main beauty concentration is on the slimmness of your waist and the slenderness of your hips. And that is where the STAUFFER SYSTEM will come to your rescue. There's probably not a woman alive who is quite content with her hip width and wouldn't like to beat it down a few inches. Make an appointment with the popular STAUFFER SYSTEM and let those rhythmic precise machines ever so gently roll away extra flesh. An appointment with the STAUFFER SYSTEM is a guarantee of slender beauty.

Among the many books at the VILLAGE BOOK STORE on Ocean Avenue which your father would enjoy for his remembrance gift on Father's Day, are three which would particularly interest him. Readers of Western history and Western days would be delighted with Warpath and Council Fire by the eminently known Stanley Vestal; Eugene Lyons has done a fine study on Our Unknown Ex-President, A Portrait of Herbert Hoover; and those who have met and known Bing Crosby will especially enjoy The Incredible Crosby, by Barry Ulanov.

One of the most fascinating books of the century is now to be found at the Book Den at HOLMAN'S in Pacific Grove. The book is the first in a series of five of Winston Churchill's memoirs, and is titled: The Gathering Storm. Publication date is Monday, June 21, and the book is priced at $5.00 before publication, and $6.00 afterwards. Publishers are Houghton, Mifflin and Co. in Boston. Everyone will want to read Mr. Churchill's memoirs and get the inside story of world events as recorded by one of the great men of our time.

Stemming from the days when each man had his own shaving mug in the barber shop, the HERITAGE ANTIQUE SHOP has a wonderful collection of occupational shaving mugs which would make excellent and amusing presents for Father's Day. There are mugs for an engineer, a fireman, a groceryman, and a bootmaker. Other neat gifts to please father with would be the shining brass lanterns to light his way home nights or a huge old globe in a great square case to let him swirl around and plan adventures with. Wander through the HERITAGE ANTIQUE SHOP and let Mrs. Clarabut help you select a gift for Father's Day.

It's summer time in Carmel and ice cream time at the VILLAGE CORNER where nine different flavors of ice cream are waiting to please you and cool you; the favorite is coffee ice cream, which is good either eaten at the corner or taken home. And there is always the added note of one of four kinds of chocolate syrup to pep up your dish of ice cream, or you might feel like sitting in the patio with a soda in your hand, or a big husky milkshake. Anyway, we all know that when the sun is out, there is one thing we don't want to be without, and that's ice cream from the VILLAGE CORNER.

Father likes candy just as much as anybody else, and now that Father's Day is approaching, you might as well give him a box and make him feel like a kid again. Out of the 84 varieties at the VILLAGE CANDY SHOP you will surely be able to find one kind he would like. Be just as nice to him as you were to Mother on her day, and give him a great big box of candy from the VILLAGE CANDY SHOP.

If you vision an artful and dexterous house sign to hang as an introduction to your house, go to the PENINSULA PAINT POT where imaginative signs have been designed in the shape of trees, animals and ships, on which is printed the name of your place, or your own name if you choose. Perhaps you would like to make a sketch of some fanciful design you have in mind and take it in to the PAINT POT where you can discuss color, lettering and so on, and have a custom made sign designed from your own ideas. There is no reason why your house sign should not be as exciting as your furniture and your house. Phone 1684-J or visit the PENINSULA PAINT POT on Fifth and Mission Streets.

The spirit of a Spanish fiesta will permeate the Carmel Valley now that Daavin Johnston is starting his Spanish dancing classes at DeAmaral's barn. Mr. Johnston learned the dances in the countries where they originated, studying and teaching in South America, the West Indies and Mexico, to mention a few. Sambas, rumbas, the guaracha, a fast rumba, and La Raspa and La Chiapaneca, in which everyone participates will be danced at each lesson. Wednesday evening, June 23, from 7:30 to 8:30 will be the first lesson, and thereafter every Wednesday. The lessons will be $1.50 per person per lesson so that no one will feel obligated for a series. There is going to be a lot of dancing in the valley and roundabouts this summer, and it will be fun to know that you are up on your rumba and samba. Women are planning on wearing long skirts and peasant blouses, and the classes will have a spirit of gaiety and an exotic flavor that no one will want to miss.

Your distinguished man of the year, your father, will appreciate a distinguished gift selected from GUMP'S beautiful collection of fine things. You might present your father with a fine leather humidor from Italy, a leather desk set, or several beer or mint julep tall cups of spun aluminum in wonderful shades of copper, bronze and silver. If he's a great he-man who likes to show off at a barbecue party, you might give him a handsome steak set, if he likes to keep his things in order, give him a wallet or a key chain, and of course a cigarette lighter for the gallant man who likes to keep the ladies' cigarettes lit on time. You are sure to find a distinguished gift at GUMP'S that will distinguish you for fine taste.

Pure silk is nothing to sneeze about; in fact, people usually get a look of awe on their faces and go around saying Pure Silk to themselves as though a miracle had occurred. The miracle has happened at GAIL COUPE'S shop on San Carlos where three dozen pure silk blouses have arrived to make everybody gasp. The blouses are short sleeved, are in prints, have plain necklines perfect for suits; the second miracle takes place when the price is mentioned for you can get these pure silk blouses for $7.95! ### Large Mission Wedding

A gala wedding took place at the Carmel Mission Saturday afternoon at 3:30 when Miss Mary McClure of Piedmont and Carmel Valley became the bride of Mr. Allan Boone Crowe of Piedmont. Miss McClure is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George McClure; Mr. Crowe is the son of Mrs. Giles Short and Mr. Allan Crowe.

Gowned in white organdy with a long train and a short veil carrying daisies and carnations arranged with eyelet embroidery which matched the embroidery on her organdy gown, the bride was given away by her father. Maid of honor was Nancy McClure, sister of the bride, who wore yellow marquisette, with a large yellow picture hat and carried blue and yellow daisies. The entire wedding colors were of spring-like blue and yellow. Bridesmaids Miss Virginia Carter of Piedmont, and Miss Patty Harris of Piedmont, wore pale blue with yellow daisies, and Miss Sallie McClure, sister of the bride, wore a wreath of flowers with her pale blue dress to show that she was a junior bridesmaid of thirteen. Cousin of the bride, Adrienne Gensoul, wore yellow organdy, carried a basket of daisies and was flower girl for the wedding. Mrs. Short was gown in Chantilly lace and matching hat, all the color of ashes of roses, while Mrs. McClure wore gray chiffon with a large yellow picture hat and carried yellow roses. Best man at the wedding was Larry Sherman, Jr., of Piedmont, and ushers were Dick Trezevant, Paul Mouser, and Kenna McClure.

Approximately 170 guests witnessed the wedding and gathered at the McClure ranch in the Carmel Valley where a reception was held around the ranch pool, and wedding cake and champagne were served. Most of the guests were from Piedmont, but among the Carmel people present were Dr. and Mrs. Horace Dormody and daughter, Pamela, Mrs. Harriet Hotson and Miss Anne Hotson, Dr. and Mrs. Ray Brownell, Herb Brownell and Leo Tanous.

After the reception the couple went to the Highlands Inn for a few days then returned to the valley where they will stay for the summer. Mrs. Crowe says that her family has built a small house for them to live in. In the fall they will return to Alameda where Mr. Crowe will attend the University of San Francisco. He is studying medicine.

Carmel Graduates From Stanford

Graduating from Stanford last week were seven Carmel students. Baird Dolman received his Bachelor of Arts in the school of biological sciences; Gordon Russell Ewig received his Master of Business Administration in the graduate school of business; Master of Arts in physical therapy was Ruth Cook of the school of education; the school of humanities gave a Bachelor of Arts in speech and drama to Joseph Otto Balogh; the school of law gave a Bachelor of law to Hamilton Murray Peyton; a Bachelor of Arts was received by Willis Reilly Richey and by Peter Albert Low in the school of social sciences.

Musical Evening

Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock, Angie Machado presented two piano students, Willette Torras and Arthur Balazs, in a musical program at the home of Frances McDonald. Robert Jensen, tenor, sang two groups of vocal numbers. The program was for a small group of friends, and after the playing and singing refreshments were served.

Visits And Guests

Busy Mrs. Karl W. Hisgen spent last Friday in Palo Alto visiting a group of army friends, then dashed up to San Francisco to hear her good friend, Susanna Foster, sing in the operetta, Naughty Marietta. Recent house guests of the Hisgens have been Brig. General George A. Taylor, Colonel and Mrs. Robert McBride, the Colonel is the new chief of staff at Fort Ord, and Betty Smith of Hellywood, and Phyllis Davies and Ruth Lewis of Stanford.

Fashion Show

Hit and absolute queen of the Gail Coupe fashion show, presented Wednesday afternoon at the Pine Inn, was Judy Thomas, miniature black French poodle belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Bess Thomas. Judy made her first appearance in the arms of platinum blonde, Mrs. Ann Miller, who wore striking black satin; Judy wore black fur, a red satin bow and red lacquered nails; the combination of black, platinum, and red, plus Judy's fabulous personality, made a striking hit. Miss Thomas' second appearance was in the arms of redheaded Margot Bauer, who carried Judy pressed against a dashing purple suit.

A two piece bathing suit with South Sea-ish bamboo design started the fashion show and was followed by a delicious five piece outfit in white sharkskin of bolero jacket, chaps, which resembled harem trousers, and blue cummerbund; the model carried the matching shorts and pedal pushers. Accent on lovely summer colors showed in a great many of the clothes, a pale cream dress covered with pink flowers, a long sleeved fitted yellow suit, an exceptionally graceful strapless striped dress of brown and white with green cummerbund and bolero jacket, a bright kelly green jacket playing up a crisp white dress with gold buttons, gold belt, lovely lines of shocking pink running horizontally through a gray chambray dress, and a striking print of sea green colors. Smartly suave was the elephant gray of a long waisted, zig zag buttoned, suit, and the gunmetal of a gorgeously fitting dress with a side drape in front.

The other three models were Mrs. Margaret Burquist from Monterey, Miss Jan Wallace from San Francisco, and Miss Charlotte Bohn of Carmel. The models did ample credit to the beautiful clothes that Gail Coupe presented.

Next week the Country Shop will present fashions at the Wednesday luncheon.

Party For Cast

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kuster were hosts to a party held in the green room after the Monday night performance of Counselor at Law, the latest Edward Kuster production. Wives and husbands and relatives of the cast were invited, and weiners and beer were the refreshments served. Cooky Crouch, who helped with properties and makeup was on hand, as was Mrs. G. Ridgley Parker, who was in charge of makeup. Steve Crouch had a fine time taking candid camera shots of everyone.

Children's Crusade

With noble medieval implications in its name, the Children's Crusade is under way on the Peninsula, with the full backing of the United Nations. Field representative Mrs. Marian Matthews from San Francisco is helping organize Peninsula women for their part in this international drive. Carmel captains are: Mrs. Burton Doolittle, Mrs. James Doud, Major-General E. G. Chapman, Mrs. James Hatlo, Mrs. C. D. Edgar, Miss Jane Blum, Miss June Brennan, Mrs. Darryl Shewell, Miss Alice McClure, Mrs. Paul Low, Miss Dorothy Way, Mrs. Milacey Morrow, Mrs. Thomas Bunn, Mrs. R. G. Mason, Col. Roy Hillyer, who is chairman of the business area, Col. L. W. Glazebrook, residential chairman, Mrs. Edward Keely, Mrs. B. B. Thomas, Mrs. A. C. Croftan, Mrs. Walter Lehmann, Mrs. John Geisen, Mr. Blanchard Steeves, Point Lobos captain is Mrs. L. H. Hudson; Carmel Highlands captain, Mr. Ray Spiking, and Monterey Country Club area, Mrs. Frances G. Hawley. The Carmel Valley has been divided into sections with Mrs. Connie Flavin in charge of the Cachagua district, Mrs. Fred Godwin in charge of the Robles del Rio section, with Mrs. Edgar Haber working with her. From the Salinas grade on down is Mrs. Frances Andrews' territory, then Mrs. Miles Leoni is in charge, with Mrs. Hattie Kieran taking charge of the lower valley. Mr. Eric Petri is general over-all secretary of the various groups.

Dawn Named Editor

Graduate of Carmel elementary schools and Monterey Union High School, Michal Dawn Overhulse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Overhulse of Carmel, has been named editor of Lycurgus, the San Jose State College feature magazine for the 1948-1949 school year. Miss Overhulse will be a senior English major at San Jose next year. Remember Dawn's clever linoleum cuts in The Pine Cone and feature articles in The Cymbal?

Mrs. Monasmith reports that though she had a good time in Germany, visiting many of the large towns around Coburg, and making a fascinating collection of glass figurines made by the Germans in the Russian Zone, she was delighted to return to Carmel. The Monasmiths will leave the first of July for their new station at Fort Dix, New Jersey.

Graduation Parties

After graduation Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dewar held open house for the graduates and their parents, families and guests, serving a buffet supper. Other after graduation parties were given by Edith Barbie, who gave a dance at her home in Pebble Beach, and by Charis Johns and Sunny Cook, who entertained friends at the home of Miss Elsa Blackman, Charis' aunt. Saturday night, Carmelita J. Fortier did honors with a barbecue party at the Monterey Country Club.

Clubhouse Materializing

At the June 7 meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club, the building committee's suggestion to grant the bid for the new clubhouse to the Stolte Company was unanimously accepted.

New officers elected to serve with the beginning of the fall term are: Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, president; Mrs. Verne Skillman, program chairman, first vice president; Mrs. L. F. Bosshardt, membership chairman and second vice president; Miss Amy Comings, treasurer; Mrs. Pierce Parsons, garden chairman; Mrs. Claire Naftzger, hospitality chairman; Miss Elizabeth Madison, book chairman; Mrs. Laxton Pope, revision chairman; Mrs. Reginald Foster, bridge chairman; Mrs. Douglas Martz, recording secretary; Mrs. Claude Faw, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Herbert T. Seipel, publicity.

Pool Fashion Show

Great numbers of guests watched Carmel and Navy wife models parade around the pool in summer clothes at the Carmel Valley Inn on Tuesday afternoon. Glimmering green water, sun, beautiful models and a delightful buffet luncheon merged to make a fine fashion show. Among those entertaining were: Mrs. Jimmy Hatlo, who had a party of Mrs. Marguerite Trout, Mrs. James C. Doud, Mrs. John B. Geisen, Mrs. Kearney Edgerton, Miss Martha Huhta, Mrs. Friedrike Strachintz, and Miss Charlotte Doud; Mrs. Ray Paul, who had a party of Mrs. F. E. Vaughn, Mrs. R. M. Burden, and Mrs. Fred Scot; and Mrs. Ramona Gahl who entertained Miss Sophie Burdord, Mrs. Mary H. Chlertt, and Mrs. Marie Pease; Mrs. Robert Garrett entertained, and Mrs. Roland Zavernetti. These were but a few of nearly 100 guests who enjoyed the outdoor fashion show.

Family Gatherings

Mrs. Carol Edwards, mother of Mrs. Jack Canoles, is home from four weeks in the hospital. The girls who were invited were: Charis Johns, Joy Wescott, Sunny Cook, Carol Hildebrand, Jan Masten, Becky Bell and Ursula Bartlett.

Joan Harrington will head a team of Carmel girls who are working for the Children's Crusade.

... Churches ...

ALL SAINTS' EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Rev. A. B. Seccombe, Rector
Miss Alice Keith, Organist
8:00 a. m. Holy Communion
9:30 a. m. Church School
11:00 a. m. Morning Prayer and Sermon

A Nursery is maintained in the Parish House for children of parents desiring to attend the 11:00 o'clock service.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH
"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This question is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson - Sermon for Sunday, June 20, with the Golden Text from I Corinthians: "Though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many,) but to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him" (8:5, 6).

The sermon will include the following citations:

Job: "Then the Lord answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said, Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? When the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy?" (38:1, 4, 7).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Suns and planets teach grand lessons. The stars make night beautiful, and the leaflet turns naturally towards the light. In the order of Science, in which the Principle is above what it reflects, all is one grand concord" (p. 240).

St. John's Chapel Del Monte

The Rev. Theodore Bell, Rector.

8:00 Holy Communion.
9:30 Childrens Service.
11:00 Morning Prayer (or Communion) and Sermon.

This beautiful Episcopal Chapel is one of America's distinctive Churches. Men and women from many lands have found its atmosphere congenial to the spiritual life.

The Chapel is set in a grove of the great Del Monte oaks. It is opposite the Naval School, Fremont Street, just outside Monterey.

Commission Asks Amended Code For Woman's Club

tional groups. Under present rulings, such buildings may not cover more than 40 per cent of the ground area, with a tolerance of 10 per cent.

Dr. H. S. Chapman met with less luck in his request for non-conforming additions to the log cabin on San Antonio near the toll gate. In plans submitted to the commission, he showed that in order to follow the lines of the existing cabin (built about 1913), his additions would fall short of the 15-foot setback from the street required by the code. The cabin, now 10 feet from the street line, is a historic landmark in Carmel, and will have to be torn down if supplementary building cannot be done, Chapman said. Stating that the commission has not the authority to grant such a permit, Commissioner Craig observed, "There are lots of places in Carmel that are landmarks, as former residences of now famous artists; but we can't allow this sort of thing all over town." The question was put over for discussion at the next meeting.

Harold P. Brown, owner of "Stone House" at Eighth and Monte Verde, asked that 140 feet of the Eighth Street frontage of his property be reclassified to permit use of his home as a house guest. The commission set a zone of interest at 300 feet from his property, for signatures of neighboring residents.

Building permits were approved for two small store buildings at Mission and Sixth, requested by Charles E. May; for a garage on the property of Paul Boylan at Tenth and Dolores; and for additions at the rear of the Derek Rayne shop on Ocean Avenue.

CELEBRATES FIRST HIGH MASS

Father Louis Bishop Franklin, S. J., newly ordained priest of Alma College, Alma, California, will celebrate his first Solemn High Mass at Mission San Carlos Borromeo on June 27. Father Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. L. Franklin of Carmel, was born in Belize, British Honduras, educated in Los Angeles, entered the Jesuit Order at Los Gatos on August 14, 1935. He taught at Loyola High School in Los Angeles for three years prior to his entrance to Alma College for the study of theology. (For further particulars contact the Mission Church.)

Aw, Why Not?

Wesley Kergan sends The Pine Cone a post card from New York with a picture of the Plaza Hotel on it. "Just what we don't want in Carmel," he writes. "That goes for their weather, also."

IT'S ELEMENTARY

Please, publicity people for various organizations who submit copy for publication in The Pine Cone, double space it and write it on one side of the paper only. And if you keep it short, your chances of getting it in are 100 per cent better than if you don't.

Also, your percentage of chance of getting your share of Pine Cone space diminishes into a faint hope after Tuesday, 5 p. m. Whereas on Monday morning your prospects are of the brightest and you are beloved of the editor and all the staff.

And when you don't get a column and a half to announce your club meeting, benefit or sale, and are inclined to feel mistreated, neglected and abused as a consequence, consider that Carmel is seething and swarming with organizations, clubs, groups and special pleaders, each one of which has an inalienable right to a share of free space in the home town newspaper, that if you get all the space for your particular organization that you think you are entitled to, some other group will have its publicity crowded out entirely. It is the editor's unenviable job to act as judge and jury in trying to apportion the space fairly among all of you, a job that embitters an otherwise joyous and stimulating profession.

NEW HOME

Installed in their new home on 931 Spruce Avenue in Pacific Grove, Miss Hildegard Swenson and Miss Matilda Weber will welcome friends at a Sunday at home on June 20 between 2 and 5 p.m.

"Cy" Johnson In Charge Of New Brokerage Office

Davies and Mejia, members of the New York Stock Exchange and other security markets, announced this week that they are opening a branch office in Carmel, at Sixth street between Dolores and Lincoln, about the first of August. Cyrus B. Johnson will manage the office. Complete brokerage facilities will be available.

Until the permanent office is open, Mr. Johnson will conduct the business at his home on Eleventh, between Lincoln and Monte Verde, where he will have an open wire to San Francisco.

QUEEN OF THE NAVY

Some fortunate and beautiful Peninsula girl will be chosen from a submitted list of photographs by various reserve groups to be the queen of Naval Reserve Week from June 26 to July 2. Functions of Naval Reserve Week will be a Saturday night, June 26, dance for both reserve and regular Navy personnel to be held at the Naval Reserve Training Center in Monterey. The queen and her ladies-in-waiting will preside at the dance. The following day the public will be invited to visit the USS De Haven, a destroyer now at anchor in Monterey Bay. During this day the royal retinue will be guests of Commander W. M. Kaufman, commanding officer of the De Haven, and the ship's company. On June 29, an open house will be held at the Naval Training Center which will feature short movies.

DO YOU KNOW

The New California Auto Law?

--how to protect your right to drive?
--after Wednesday, June 30?

HERE'S WHAT THE STATE LAW REQUIRES IF YOU ARE INVOLVED IN AN ACCIDENT

In motor vehicle accidents which result in bodily injuries or death, each driver involved must make a report to the California Department of Motor Vehicles. It is also necessary for each driver to make a report of any accident involving more than $100 damage to the property of any person.

Following the accident you may be required to furnish the Department proof of your ability to pay for the injuries, death or damage as follows:

(A) File proof that a liability insurance policy (covering your use of the automobile in involved) was in force at the time of the accident with limits of at least $5,000 for any one person, and at least $10,000 for two or more persons injured or killed, and at least $1,000 for damage to property of others; OR

(B) Settle all claims yourself which may arise from the accident and furnish the Department with satisfactory proof to that effect; OR

(C) Deposit cash or acceptable securities with the Department in the amount it requires up to 11,000; OR

(D) Deposit a bond in the form and amount prescribed by the Department.

If the owner or driver meets the requirements of the law as outlined, his driving privilege will not be withdrawn. Otherwise, his Driver's License will be suspended and will remain suspended until he arranges payment of all the judgments obtained against him to the limits above mentioned or for one year following the date of accident if no action for damages has been brought against him.
